Red Mine Sinks U.S. Ship in Saigon River

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An American merchant ship with war supplies for the fighting forces in Viet Nam was blasted by a Communist mine today and sank in the Saigon River. Seven of its American crewmen were killed.

The mine ripped a gaping hole in the port side of the vessel, the 10,000-ton Baton Rouge Victory, and flooded the ship's engine room. The ship was run aground at the river bank 20 miles east of Saigon and it sank to the bottom with water up to its main deck.

The mining of the Baton Rouge Victory capped a week of stepped-up Viet Cong terrorism and sabotage in the Saigon area.

The U.S. government-owned vessel is operated by charter by the States Lines of Baltimore, Md., a spokesman said. He said it left San Francisco July 28 for Saigon. It carried general cargo including post exchange supplies, and its deck was loaded with trucks. It had a crew of 45, all Americans.

The vessel was hit in the Long Tao channel in a swampy, mangrove area controlled largely by the Viet Cong.

Official sources said the Viet Cong apparently were attempting to mine an ammunition ship which had been scheduled to travel up the river ahead of the Baton Rouge Victory. The ammunition ship, however, had been delayed.

The explosion caused heavy damage to the ship's engine room, where the seven crew members were killed.

Less than an hour after the blast, the ship was deliberately grounded on the south bank and it settled to the river bottom. U.S. river patrol boats and armed helicopters provided protective cover for salvage operations. A salvage ship and four tugs were sent to the scene.

Elsewhere in the war, the U.S. military command disclosed that a U.S. Marine amphibious force 1,500-strong landed unopposed on beaches 50 miles southeast of Saigon early Monday, and in the 36 hours that followed the landings had made no contact with the Viet Cong units believed to be operating in the jungle swampland in the area.

Another Marine force had landed a week earlier 50 miles east of Saigon. Both were assigned a blocking role in Operation Toledo, a combined U.S.-Vietnamese sweep against the Viet Cong 5th Division.

No other major ground action was reported.

Blast Levels Texas Church

One Dies, 53 Hurt As Roof Caves In

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — A thundering explosion Monday night sent the roof crashing down on 200 worshipers in the Church of God in Christ. Falling debris killed a woman and injured 53 other persons.

Twelve persons were trapped for a time as a small fire broke out and was quickly quenched in the concrete - block and frame building.

After preliminary investigation, Plainview's director of public safety said natural gas apparently was to blame.

Indications are that it was a gas leak, possibly set off by an electric organ, he reported.

"The United Baptist choir was singing when it happened," said Elder Henry Jackson, 32. "The lights went out, then there was an explosion that blew the floor out of the building and then the top caved in.

"It blew me up in the ceiling, then I fell back in the chair where I had been sitting and turned over backwards."

Mrs. E. N. Givens, wife of the pastor of the Negro congregation, said a capacity crowd of 200 or more filled the church for an all-musical service opening a week-long revival, and there were 65 in the choir loft alone.

The Rev. Mr. Givens, hurled across the church and against a wall, was injured. His wife had gone next door shortly before the blast.

Rescuers plodded through mud left by two days of rain to sift the wreckage, using a truck crane to hoist big pieces of the roof.

They found the body of Mrs. Ennis A. Dukes, about 45, of Pampa, beneath timbers which crashed down on the rostrum where she was sitting. She was district president of the church's women's auxiliary.

Dirksen Says LBJ Losing Popularity, Blames War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Viet Nam war is costing President Johnson some of his political popularity and there isn't much the President can do about it, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today.

Dirksen dismissed as "long on good rhetoric but short on results" Johnson's weekend "non-political' swing across five Northeastern states where he got in some not-so-subtle plugs for Democratic candidates while praising Republicans accompanying him.

"I don't think the President accomplished very much politically," Dirksen told reporters.

Johnson himself was reported well-satisfied with his weekend of stumping. He was said to be planning similar trips in the immediate future.

The GOP leader noted that public opinion polls indicate Johnson's popularity standing is lower than it has been in the past.

Asked if this reflects dissatisfaction with the way things are going in Viet Nam, he replied: "Of course it does. It reflects the frustrations of the people."

Reminded that he was something of a "partner" of Johnson because of his support for the President's Viet Nam course, he answered: "I am and I'm willing to take the gaff for it because there is nothing else to do."

Dirksen said he thinks the current popularity of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., as shown in polls reflects reaction largely to Johnson's Southeast Asia policies. Kennedy has been critical in a carefully limited way of some of the President's moves there.

The New York senator has said he would support Johnson for re-election in 1968 and has disclaimed any intention of challenging Vice Prsident Hubert H. Humphrey for second place on the ticket then.

Nevertheless, some of the public opinion polls show Kennedy out-distancing Johnson in party support in some instances and presumably running better against some prospective GOP candidates. A Minnesota poll indicated he may be more politically popular than Humphrey currently is in Humphrey's home state.

But Dirksen said he doesn't think this indicates much, so far as 1968 is concerned.

"This is John F. Kennedy popularity," he said. "Things may be quite different in 1968."

Yanks Save 2 Germans in French Alps

CHAMONIX, France (AP)—Two German youths, stranded a week on an icy ledge in the French Alps were brought safely to Chamonix today. They told their American-led rescuers: "Thanks for everything."

Gary Hemming of Pasadena, Calif., who headed the grueling seven-man operation, stepped from a helicopter and described the rescue as "quite something." Then he turned to French officials and asked, "Say, are there any more rescues scheduled?"

The two Germans were Heinz Ramisch, 24, a student from Baden-Baden, and Hermann Schridde, 30, a mechanic from Karlsruhe.

They were brought inch by inch down the sheer, ice-covered wall of the Dru Needle on the Mount Blanc massif to a small heliport at the base of the peak.

From there Ramisch and Schridde and their rescuers were brought in two helicopters to the Chamonix resort.

The Germans started up the 11,000-foot Drug on Aug. 14, but were halted about 1,200 feet from their goal when rain and snow forced them to remain on an icy shelf.

Robbery Hinted In Murder Case

MIAMISBURG, Ohio (AP)—Police said today that robbery may have been the motive in the murder of Mrs. Catherine Callahan, 63, whose body was found last Thursday in her apartment here.

Mrs. Callahan, who had been strangled, was murdered in her quarters above a restaurant she operated here.

Police said that after checking the restaurant's books, they determined that about $1,000 was missing. The victim may have kept large amounts of money in her apartment, officers speculated.

Police Nab Teacher, Big Cache of LSD

NEW YORK (AP) — Police overpowered a self-described college teacher and seized LSD they said was worth $140,000 on the illegal market — the largest quantity of the hallucinognic drug authorities said they had ever confiscated.

Under arrest was Allen Sugerman, 28, of Springfield, Mass. who detectives said threatened to shoot them when they identified themslves as police.

Sugerman claimed to be a graduate of the University of Melbourne, Australia, and a teacher of history and English there.

According to detectives, Sugerman's arrest followed a tip he was supplying large quantities of LSD for sale in Greenwich Village and midtown Manhattan. A purchase was arranged and police said they had handed over $10,000 to him when he allegedly pulled a gun.

The total amount of LSD sized was one quart, enough for 40,000 doses, each selling at $3.50, police said Monday after the arest.

Sugerman was charged with selling LSD, a crime in New York, violation of the weapons law and felonious assault.

Quake Destroys Town In Matter of Seconds

VARTO, Turkey (AP) — "The whole town was destroyed in a mater of seconds," an elderly peasant said today recalling the fury of Friday's earthquake in Varto.

Witnesses said the small county seat rocked first horizontally and then vertically, and then there was nothing left.

All but three of the town's 700 mud huts and concrete buildings crashed down.

Varto was the epicenter of the violent quake that killed an estimated 3,000 persons in eastern Turkey.

"I was on the street," said Osman Duman, 37.

"The ground shook under me I saw houses falling apart and a great cloud of dust rose into the sky. I just couldn't understand what had happened."

The leveled town was jolted Monday night as seemingly endless tremors continued to ripple the area.

The tremor, described by an Interior Ministry official as "quite strong," caused no deaths or injuries.

Premier Suleyman Demirel estimated in a radio address to the nation that 2,000 had perished in the four province disaster regions.

Demirel's estimate was below those of local officials who said more than 3,000 have been killed. Officials say 2,100 have been counted dead in the Varto district alone.

Government officials moved to provide housing for homeless peasants before the early winter sets in.

Thousands were sleeping in the open. Cool weather usually begins here in August. Demirel promised all efforts to provide new housing before cold grips the mountainous region. He said 58,000 families would have to be resettled.

The Turkish army moved mobile bakeries into the area to make bread for the survivors Planes dropped fresh loaves into villages not yet reached by land.

Demirel said the nation was grateful to all countries that sent assistance. He appealed to Turks to keep up their help for their stricken countrymen.

Another man in Varto told of seeing water in a nearby lake sprayed 60 feet into the air.

One survivor sat in the ruins of what had been Varto's high school. He said he had been its janitor.

He pointed to his bandaged hand and said it had saved his life. But, he added in tears, "I lost my mother and two children."

Dallas Pushes Fight Against Encephalitis

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Six Air Force planes took off early today in a beefed up insecticide war against the mosquito that spreads encephalitis.

One-third of Dallas County was sprayed with a mist of Malathion insecticide last Friday and Monday. Another third was projected for the low-flying planes today.

Three planes flew the original mission but after adverse weather grounded them Saturday and Sunday, three additional C123s were brought in.

Health officials have recorded 83 encephalitis cases with five deaths.

They said that as many as 70 more cases contracted before the spraying began could be reported between now and September.

"Once bitten, it takes up to 14 days before a person develops the illness," said Dr. Jay Sanford, chief of infectious diseases at Parkland Hospital.

Dr. Hal J. Dewlett, city health director, said a check Sunday of the area sprayed Friday revealed only a few live mosquitoes. He said the two days when high winds and low-hanging clouds prevented the Air Force teams from spraying did not seriously hinder the aerial war.

40,000 Due For Callup

Another 100,000 Tagged Next Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara disclosed today Pentagon plans to accept for military training in the next 10 months 40,000 men ordinarily disqualified because of education and health reasons.

He said the number would increase to 100,000 in the next fiscal year and in succeeding years.

The men would undergo intensive training using facilities of the Defense Department — "the largest single educational complex the world has ever known" —to become "fully satisfactory soldiers," McNamara said in a speech prepared for delivery to the convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Aides in Washington described the training effort as unique and said men taken into the program will, like draftees and enlistees be under military authority of the services.

Pentagon spokesmen said 85 per cent or more of such trainees are expected to qualify for military duty. Those who do not qualify "will not be retained" in the service.

McNamara led up to his announcement of the training program with a warning that "poverty in America makes our nation less secure."

Obviously referring to racial disorders, he said since World War II state governors have had to call out the National Guard "no less than 59 times to put down disorders that could not be controlled by police."

"We need not look as far as Africa, or Asia, or Latin America for poverty-induced tensions that erupt into irrational violence," McNamara asserted. "It has often happened right here in the United States. It has happened this year."

Then McNamara blamed poverty for figuring in the rejection of 600,000 men a year for military service, but said military

U.S. Big Cities Need Vast Aid

Rebirth Price Set At $113 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh said today Congress should set aside at least $113 billion for a drive to "achieve the rebirth of the American city" during the next decade.

The drive should be a national commitment, he said. "We must make sure that everyone in this nation begins to realize that the warfare on our city streets is as important as some consider the warfare in Southeast Asia."

The Democratic mayor from Detroit, loser Aug. 2 in a bid for nomination to the Senate, outlined his proposal in testimony prepared for the Senate subcommittee on executive reorganization.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty also is to testify in the subcommittee's investigation of problems facing American cities.

Cavanagh, president of the National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors, proposed steps less ambitiou than those advocated by New York Mayor John V. Lindsay — who testified Monday that his city alone would need $50 billion in new federal funds over the next 10 years.

"We must not turn away from our foreign obligations," Cavanagh said. "But we must not turn away from our problems at home, either, for they can destroy us as well."

Noting that Congress has committed $70 billion to put a man on the moon and $43 billion to build the interstate highway system, the Detroit mayor said "we must make a similar commitment and set aside at least as much money to see that the rebirth of our cities is accomplished."

Cop Chief Arrests His Own Father

HURON, Ohio (AP)—"I feel rotten about it," Police Chief Louis Wargo after signing an affidavit charging his father, Louis P. Vargo, 59, with involuntary traffic manslaughter.

"I investigated the accident," Wargo said. "It was my job to sign the affidavit."

Vargo was charged Monday after the death of Mrs. Ethel Karchin, 76, of Vermilion died Sunday of injuries suffered in an auto accident Aug. 8. Police said Mrs. Karchin was injured when Vargo turned in front of a car driven by her son.

Vargo was freed on $1,000 bond pending arraignment Friday in Erie County Court at Milan.

Ike's Grandson To Shun Military

NEW YORK (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower revealed today that her grandson David, 18, has decided not to follow the lead of his father and grandfather in attending West Point.

David, who was graduated from Phillips Exeter last June, will attend Amherst College the former first lady said in a copyright article in the current issue of McCall's magazine.

"His parents felt that the decision should be David's alone, and it was," Mrs. Eisenhower said, adding that she is proud of the decision.

Some Lunar Photos Still Rather Fuzzy

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter's high-resolution camera continues to transmit blurry pictures of the moon but a U.S. space agency spokesman is optimistic.

Monday the balky camera sent a smeary picture of ground along the moon's equator, where astronauts hope to find smooth landing spot later in the decade.

The spokesman said: "The high-resolution shutter seems to be firing off at random from a spurious signal. But the law of averages says we should get some clear shots taken at just the right time.

"It's likely we'll have close to 100 per cent success on the mission."

Space agency spokesmen said they hoped the high-resolution system would produce photos clearly showing craters and ridges as small as one yard across.

The spokesmen said the spacecraft is passing just 35 miles above the lunar surface at the low point of its orbit. They said it is expected to sweep within 28 miles of the moon Thursday.

LBJ Hinted Ready For Western Jaunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, pleased with his trip into New England and Canada last weekend, may be planning another multistate swing in the West.

There were reports Monday from Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming, Idaho, Montana and Oklahoma of a possible presidential trip. Some of the reports said security agents were making checks in their areas.

Here's How To Beat Rising Cost of Living

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are some tips, negative and positive, on how to beat the high cost of living:

Don't:

Get sick, eat so many omelets, hire a baby sitter so often, get a new hair-do before the old one looks real dowdy.

Do:

Walk more instead of riding, try an art museum once in a while instead of a movie, think twice before borrowing mortgage money at today's rates, take up bird watching instead of polo.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics issued its consumer price index for July Monday. As expected, it set a new record, as usual.

The month's rise of fourtenths of 1 per cent brought the index to 113.3. This means it costs $11.33 to buy what cost $10 in 1957-59 — on the average and generally speaking.

Food prices went up fourtenths of 1 per cent but this was much less than is usual in July. However egg prices took a whopping 5½ per cent jump when unusually hot weather curtailed production. Hence the advice to go easy on the omelets.

The average housewife though cannot make a great big dent in the cost of living by attacking the food budget. For one thing most folks have to eat. For another Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of labor statistics, cited figures to show food prices are not the deepest-eyed villain in the cost of living drama.

Suppose, he supposed, that a family's grocery bill has been $25 a week. He emphasized he was speaking strictly of groceries, not paper napkins, detergents and the thousand other items in supermarkets.

The July rise in costs added 10 cents to that bill.

Turning from food to other living costs, the bureau said:

"About half of the rise in the consumer price index in the past year has been caused by increased charges for nearly all kinds of consumer services, averaging 4.1 per cent. Transportation and medical service charges each climbed 5 per cent over the year. Other types of services were up 4 to 4½ per cent, except for rents, which, with a 1.3 per cent increase, continued their slow rise."

For the benefit of cost-conscous housewives, Chase prepared a simple tabulation. It is based on the concept of a $100 "basket" of goods and services, though it contains many things that wouldn't fit into a basket, like babysitters and gall bladder operations.

The tabulation shows the increase "in average costs of major components" of this basket between July 1965 and July 1966, as follows:

—Food: up 71 cents.

—Other nondurables, apparel, fuel, textile house furnishings, housekeeping supplies, gasoline, tobacco, toilet goods, newspapers, etc.: up 62 cents.

—Durables, houses, furniture, appliances, automobiles, etc.: up 12 cents.

—Services, medical care, barber and beauty shops, domestic service, babysitters, utilities, public transportation, laundry and dry cleaning, movies, all types of insurance, mortgage interest, etc.: up $1.35.

It all totals up to a $2.80 dent in your pocketbook.

Robbery Hinted In Murder Case

MIAMISBURG, Ohio (AP)—Police said today that robbery may have been the motive in the murder of Mrs. Catherine Callahan, 63, whose body was found last Thursday in her apartment here.

Mrs. Callahan, who had been strangled, was murdered in her quarters above a restaurant she operated here.

Police said that after checking the restaurant's books, they determined that about $1,000 was missing. The victim may have kept large amounts of money in her apartment, officers speculated.

Quake Destroys Town In Matter of Seconds

VARTO, Turkey (AP) — "The whole town was destroyed in a mater of seconds," an elderly peasant said today recalling the fury of Friday's earthquake in Varto.

Witnesses said the small county seat rocked first horizontally and then vertically, and then there was nothing left.

All but three of the town's 700 mud huts and concrete buildings crashed down.

Varto was the epicnter of the violent quake that killed an estimated 3,000 persons in eastern Turkey.

"I was on the street," said Osman Duman, 37.

"The ground shook under me I saw houses falling apart and a great cloud of dust rose into the sky. I just couldn't understand what had happened."

The leveled town was jolted Monday night as seemingly endless tremors continued to ripple the area.

The tremor, described by an Interior Ministry official as "quite strong," caused no deaths or injuries.

Premier Suleyman Demirel estimated in a radio address to the nation that 2,000 had perished in the four province disaster regions.

Demirel's estimate was below those of local officials who said more than 3,000 have been killed. Officials say 2,100 have been counted dead in the Varto district alone.

Government officials moved to provide housing for homeless peasants before the early winter sets in.

Thousands were sleeping in the open. Cool weather usually begins here in August. Demirel promised all efforts to provide new housing before cold grips the mountainous region. He said 58,000 families would have to be resettled.

The Turkish army moved mobile bakeries into the area to make bread for the survivors Planes dropped fresh loaves into villages not yet reached by land.

Demirel said the nation was grateful to all countries that sent assistance. He appealed to Turks to keep up their help for their stricken countrymen.

Another man in Varto told of seeing water in a nearby lake sprayed 60 feet into the air.

One survivor sat in the ruins of what had been Varto's high school. He said he had been its janitor.

He pointed to his bandaged hand and said it had saved his life. But, he added in tears, "I lost my mother and two children."

Once Around Roundtown

A COOL front moved into the Pickaway County area during the night replacing a hot and humid air mass . . . The weatherman claims that fair and mild weather will extend through Wednesday with daytime temperatures in the mid 70s and early morning lows in the 50s.

A BUSY crew these days is the Pumpkin Show Board of Directors . . . The officials are in the process of lining up this year's free attractions . . . The extravaganza is scheduled Oct. 19-22.

ANOTHER site of activity is Circleville's new three - year high school . . . Final touches are being put on the building, along with the moving of equipment and textbooks from the old high school . . .

The school will open as scheduled Sept. 6 . . . Offices at the school are already in full operation.

CIRCLEVILLE Municipal Court Bailiff Dick Lamb turned 21 today . . .

His co-workers, clerk Naomi Houghton and deputy Donna Speakman surprised him with a small cupcake with one candle, a tiny rubber octupus and an ash tray.

NOTICED the grass growing in the cracks in downtown sidewalks? Or the weeds in the alleys along the edges of buildings? Maybe Roundtown could use a clean up, fix up paint up week in the fall as well as the spring . . .

When the weeds and grass dry out, they become a fire hazard, it was pointed out today by city firemen.

Dallas Pushes Fight Against Encephalitis

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Six Air Force planes took off early today in a beefed up insecticide war against the mosquito that spreads encephalitis.

One-third of Dallas County was sprayed with a mist of Malathion insecticide last Friday and Monday. Another third was projected for the low-flying planes today.

Three planes flew the original mission but after adverse weather grounded them Saturday and Sunday, three additional C123s were brought in.

Health officials have recorded 83 encephalitis cases with five deaths.

They said that as many as 70 more cases contracted before the spraying began could be reported between now and September.

"Once bitten, it takes up to 14 days before a person develops the illness," said Dr. Jay Sanford, chief of infectious diseases at Parkland Hospital.

Dr. Hal J. Dewlett, city health director, said a check Sunday of the area sprayed Friday revealed only a few live mosquitoes. He said the two days when high winds and low-hanging clouds prevented the Air Force teams from spraying did not seriously hinder the aerial war.

U.S. Big Cities Need Vast Aid

Rebirth Price Set At $113 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh said today Congress should set aside at least $113 billion for a drive to "achieve the rebirth of the American city" during the next decade.

The drive should be a national commitment, he said. "We must make sure that everyone in this nation begins to realize that the warfare on our city streets is as important as some consider the warfare in Southeast Asia."

The Democratic mayor from Detroit, loser Aug. 2 in a bid for nomination to the Senate, outlined his proposal in testimony prepared for the Senate subcommittee on executive reorganization.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty also is to testify in the subcommittee's investigation of problems facing American cities.

Cavanagh, president of the National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors, proposed steps less ambitiou than those advocated by New York Mayor John V. Lindsay — who testified Monday that his city alone would need $50 billion in new federal funds over the next 10 years.

"We must not turn away from our foreign obligations," Cavanagh said. "But we must not turn away from our problems at home, either, for they can destroy us as well."

Noting that Congress has committed $70 billion to put a man on the moon and $43 billion to build the interstate highway system, the Detroit mayor said "we must make a similar commitment and set aside at least as much money to see that the rebirth of our cities is accomplished."

Cop Chief Arrests His Own Father

HURON, Ohio (AP)—"I feel rotten about it," Police Chief Louis Wargo after signing an affidavit charging his father, Louis P. Vargo, 59, with involuntary traffic manslaughter.

"I investigated the accident," Wargo said. "It was my job to sign the affidavit."

Vargo was charged Monday after the death of Mrs. Ethel Karchin, 76, of Vermilion died Sunday of injuries suffered in an auto accident Aug. 8. Police said Mrs. Karchin was injured when Vargo turned in front of a car driven by her son.

Vargo was freed on $1,000 bond pending arraignment Friday in Erie County Court at Milan.

Ike's Grandson To Shun Military

NEW YORK (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower revealed today that her grandson David, 18, has decided not to follow the lead of his father and grandfather in attending West Point.

David, who was graduated from Phillips Exeter last June, will attend Amherst College the former first lady said in a copyright article in the current issue of McCall's magazine.

"His parents felt that the decision should be David's alone, and it was," Mrs. Eisenhower said, adding that she is proud of the decision.

40,000 Due For Callup

Another 100,000 Tagged Next Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara disclosed today Pentagon plans to accept for military training in the next 10 months 40,000 men ordinarily disqualified because of education and health reasons.

He said the number would increase to 100,000 in the next fiscal year and in succeeding years.

The men would undergo intensive training using facilities of the Defense Department — "the largest single educational complex the world has ever known" —to become "fully satisfactory soldiers," McNamara said in a speech prepared for delivery to the convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Aides in Washington described the training effort as unique and said men taken into the program will, like draftees and enlistees be under military authority of the services.

Pentagon spokesmen said 85 per cent or more of such trainees are expected to qualify for military duty. Those who do not qualify "will not be retained" in the service.

McNamara led up to his announcement of the training program with a warning that "poverty in America makes our nation less secure."

Obviously referring to racial disorders, he said since World War II state governors have had to call out the National Guard "no less than 59 times to put down disorders that could not be controlled by police."

"We need not look as far as Africa, or Asia, or Latin America for poverty-induced tensions that erupt into irrational violence," McNamara asserted. "It has often happened right here in the United States. It has happened this year."

Then McNamara blamed poverty for figuring in the rejection of 600,000 men a year for military service, but said military

Some Lunar Photos Still Rather Fuzzy

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter's high-resolution camera continues to transmit blurry pictures of the moon but a U.S. space agency spokesman is optimistic.

Monday the balky camera sent a smeary picture of ground along the moon's equator, where astronauts hope to find smooth landing spot later in the decade.

The spokesman said: "The high-resolution shutter seems to be firing off at random from a spurious signal. But the law of averages says we should get some clear shots taken at just the right time.

"It's likely we'll have close to 100 per cent success on the mission."

Space agency spokesmen said they hoped the high-resolution system would produce photos clearly showing craters and ridges as small as one yard across.

The spokesmen said the spacecraft is passing just 35 miles above the lunar surface at the low point of its orbit. They said it is expected to sweep within 28 miles of the moon Thursday.

LBJ Hinted Ready For Western Jaunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, pleased with his trip into New England and Canada last weekend, may be planning another multistate swing in the West.

There were reports Monday from Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming, Idaho, Montana and Oklahoma of a possible presidential trip. Some of the reports said security agents were making checks in their areas.

Here's How To Beat Rising Cost of Living

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are some tips, negative and positive, on how to beat the high cost of living:

Don't:

Get sick, eat so many omelets, hire a baby sitter so often, get a new hair-do before the old one looks real dowdy.

Do:

Walk more instead of riding, try an art museum once in a while instead of a movie, think twice before borrowing mortgage money at today's rates, take up bird watching instead of polo.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics issued its consumer price index for July Monday. As expected, it set a new record, as usual.

The month's rise of fourtenths of 1 per cent brought the index to 113.3. This means it costs $11.33 to buy what cost $10 in 1957-59 — on the average and generally speaking.

Food prices went up fourtenths of 1 per cent but this was much less than is usual in July. However egg prices took a whopping 5½ per cent jump when unusually hot weather curtailed production. Hence the advice to go easy on the omelets.

The average housewife though cannot make a great big dent in the cost of living by attacking the food budget. For one thing most folks have to eat. For another Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of labor statistics, cited figures to show food prices are not the deepest-eyed villain in the cost of living drama.

Suppose, he supposed, that a family's grocery bill has been $25 a week. He emphasized he was speaking strictly of groceries, not paper napkins, detergents and the thousand other items in supermarkets.

The July rise in costs added 10 cents to that bill.

Turning from food to other living costs, the bureau said:

"About half of the rise in the consumer price index in the past year has been caused by increased charges for nearly all kinds of consumer services, averaging 4.1 per cent. Transportation and medical service charges each climbed 5 per cent over the year. Other types of services were up 4 to 4½ per cent, except for rents, which, with a 1.3 per cent increase, continued their slow rise."

For the benefit of cost-conscous housewives, Chase prepared a simple tabulation. It is based on the concept of a $100 "basket" of goods and services, though it contains many things that wouldn't fit into a basket, like babysitters and gall bladder operations.

The tabulation shows the increase "in average costs of major components" of this basket between July 1965 and July 1966, as follows:

—Food: up 71 cents.

—Other nondurables, apparel, fuel, textile house furnishings, housekeeping supplies, gasoline, tobacco, toilet goods, newspapers, etc.: up 62 cents.

—Durables, houses, furniture, appliances, automobiles, etc.: up 12 cents.

—Services, medical care, barber and beauty shops, domestic service, babysitters, utilities, public transportation, laundry and dry cleaning, movies, all types of insurance, mortgage interest, etc.: up $1.35.

It all totals up to a $2.80 dent in your pocketbook.

Attorney Sees No Threat In Antiwar Group Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark told the House Committee on Un-American Activities today that current antiwar activity "can hardly be considered a threat."

He added: "There is no need for new legislation because a panoply of laws, state and federal, presently protects the national interest."

In a sharp worded statement, Clark said legislation aimed at Americans who try to block shipment of troops or materiel to Viet Nam or seek to send supplies to the Viet Cong "is undesirable for more reasons than lack of necessity."

Committee members planned to question Clark about whether the Justice Department had prosecuted Americans who had solicited or sent supplies or money to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

Clark said the bill, whose chief sponsor is acting committee chairman Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., would inject federal law into "clear state and local jurisdiction." He said there is no indication that state and local law enforcement is not doing the necessary job.

Clark cited existing laws, which deal with sabotage of military material and installations, trepass on military property, port security, sedition and protection of federal property, and said: "These laws are adequate to protect the federal interest."

He said also that the Pool bill is objectionable because of "is prohibition against sending medical and other needed supplies for members of the armed forces and civilians held prisoner by hostile forces" and "its excessive and indiscriminant penalty which would attach the same severe sanctions to saboteurs and sitins alike."

The bill would authorize a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, a co-sponsor of the Pool bill, called Clark's contention that the obstructionist campaign was essentially a propaganda effort "an interesting statement."

Ashbrook — Would you call sending money to the Viet Cong propaganda?

Clark—We know of no money that has reached the Viet Cong.

Ashbrook—Would you call collection of blood propaganda?

Clark—We know of no blood that has actually left this country. . . We're talking about the facts, not the suppositions.

Ashbrook — would you call blocking troop trains essentially propaganda?

The deputy attorney general replied that it was an "effort to get publicity rather than stop a rain they knew they could not stop."

W. B. Saxbe Here Monday

William B. Saxbe, Ohio Attorney General, will be guest of honor at a 2:30 p. m. coffee meeting Monday at the Pickaway Arms.

Saxbe, a Republican seeking a third term in the state post, will meet with office holders, local Republican officials and other Pickaway County party members.

The attorney-general, in his campaign tour, is conducting a program to alert Ohioans to the con men who "bilk them out of $300 million annually."

He is also campaigning for better training and more pay for Ohio policemen and deputy sheriffs.

A resident of Mechanicsburg, he is a former speaker as well as majority leader of the Ohio House of Representatives. He was first elected to public office in 1947.

Through the Consumer Frauds and Crimes Department of his office, Saxbe has conducted investigations and collects extensive files on confidence men operating in Ohio.

State Nets $18,738 from Local Fines

Pickaway County courts paid $18,738.61 to the state treasury during the past fiscal year as the state's 45 per cent share of highway patrol fines, according to a report today from State Auditor Roger Cloud.

A $25 deposit was also made to the state during the fiscal year, ending July 31, as the 50 per cent share of liquor fines.

On a statewide basis, highway patrol fines hit an all - time high of $3,713,028. Of the total collected, the state received $1,670,862.72 as its 45 per cent share as provided by law.

Records show that patrol fines were collected in all 88 counties. Liquor fines were collected in 63 counties.

Neighboring counties reported the following shares paid to the state treasury: Fayette, $6,682.15 in patrol fines and $234 in liquor fines; Ross, $32,608.77 in patrol fines and $25 in liquor fines; Hocking, $6,100.37 in patrol fines and $113.60 in liquor fines; Fairfield, $22,714.78 in patrol fines and $107.50 in liquor fines.

Inspection Due At Airport Site

A detailed look at a proposed site for a county airport will be conducted Friday morning, according to Pickaway's Board of Commissioners.

John Cornett, a representative of the Ohio Division of Aviation, will join the commissioners, county engineer and members of a local airport advisory group for a ground inspection. The proposed site is in the vicinity of the old County Home, about four miles east of Circleville off Route 22.

Part of the land under study is owned by the county. Another tract deemed necessary for the project is the property of Sterley and Forest Croman. The area was deemed feasible for airport purposes after an initial look last Friday.

County Engineer Henry McCrady already has prepared a preliminary map sketch of the proposed airstrip. The area it covers will be the subject of Friday's inspection.

* * *

A KEY aspect of the visual check, according to the commissioners, will be distances required for aircraft approaches in relationship to a road in the vicinity. It has been pointed out that one short section of the East Ringgold - Southern Road might have to be relocated.

The other highway involved is the Winstead Road, a roadway that deadends a short distance east of its intersection with East Ringgold-Southern.

Lloyd Melvin, commission chairman, said every avenue will be explored in an effort to come up with a workable program at the proposed site. "Failure to initiate a construction project this time could well mean the end of a county airport venture," he added.

Considerable time and effort was expended earlier toward a joint airport program with Ross County. The project was abandoned this month, with each county setting out on its own to secure an aviation facility.

In other county business conducted Monday afternoon, the solons received a petition requesting the erection of a blinker light on Old Route 23. The section concerned is at the top of a hill near the First Baptist Church.

The petition listed 43 signatures, mostly persons living in the immediate vicinity. The request was referred to the county engineer for study.

The purchase of an electric fan for use in the juvenile court office and a typewriter for the sheriff's department was approved.

Procurement Lists Available

The Defense Construction Supply Center (DCSC), Columbus, announced today that new Advance Procurement Planning Lists are available at its offices.

Manufacturing concerns interested in supplying the wide variety of over 600,000 construction and automotive supply items managed by the DCSC are urged to write to the center for copies of the listings. The lists are being used throughout the Defense Supply Agency activities to inform industry about future buying plans.

Information included in the listing covers such specifics as the Federal stock number of the item, item nomenclature, applicable specifications or other technical data, quantity of items and scheduled period of procurement for items.

Inquiries should be directed to Defense Construction Supply Center, 3990 E. Broad St., Columbus, O. 43215.

qualification standards need not be lowered.

"What I do believe is that through the application of advanced educational techniques we can salvage tens of thousands of these men, each year, first for productive military careers and later for productive roles in society," he said, adding:

"We are, therefore, in the current fiscal year going to accept 40,000 men who currently fall into the disqualification category — men who fail to score well on the standard aptitude tests, but who when exposed to intensive instruction in military skills and practical on-the-job training can qualify as fully satisfactory soldiers; men who have been deprived of proper health care, but who can be brought up to physical fitness standards within a period of a few weeks; men whose 'low aptitude' and lack of achievement are a function of external environment rather than internal potential."

In succeeding fiscal years, McNamara said, 100,000 additional men will be taken into the program.

The Pentagon failed to win Congressional approval last year for an experimental program known as STEP (Special Training for Enlisted Personnel) which would have trained 15,000 volunteers who failed to qualify for service under physical or mental standards.

In a statement issued in connection with McNamara's speech, the Pentagon said:

"In our proposed program, we will not be experimenting. We will be producing men for regular duty in a reasonable period of time. Unqualified men will not be retained; 85 per cent or more are expected to qualify.

"STEP concentrated on men without demonstrated aptitudes," the statement said. "We now propose to accept men with demonstrated apittudes."

Annex Room Approved for School Use

A room in the Courthouse Annex at 137 W. Franklin St. has been made available to the County Board of Education.

The space will be used by Mrs. Opal Parmer, director of county pupil personnel. Authority to use the office was granted Monday by Pickaway's Board of Commissioners.

A request for additional space was made last week by George McDowell, superintendent of county schools. He said Mrs. Parmer needs a relative amount of privacy for pupil testing purposes.

McDowell said his present offices in the Courthouse were not adequate for the program.

The commissioners also authorized the purchase of a desk for the director's office, along with necessary chairs.

'Girl from U.N.C.L.E.' Due To Be Wed to Spaceman

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Social note: On Aug. 27, or maybe Sept. 3, Stefania Zofja Federkievicz will marry John Gary Yurosek at Lake Tahoe.

This news might attract little interest outside of Polish-American circles except for the fact that the bride and groom are known professionally at Stephanie Powers and Gary Lockwood.

She is television's new "Girl from U.N.C.L.E." and he is out of this world in "2001, a Space Odyssey."

Both are American-born; is half-Polish, she is totally so. Their meeting couldn't have been more American.

"I was playing third base on a girls' softball team that played in Beverly Hills," she recalled. "Gary happened to be going with another girl who played softball."

Stephanie declined to comment on whether Gary admired her form. In truth, he didn't seem to notice for a couple years; that's how long it took him to ask for a date. Their romance flowered, and she joined him on his London location for "Odyssey." Upon his return last month they decided on a wedding.

Originally it was to be a big affair in Beverly Hills, but they decided against it. What convinced them?

"The guest list," said Stephanie. "My own list grew to five hundred, and my family doesn't even live here. Gary's family does live here, and there are plenty of them."

She figured the bill for the wedding would have amounted to $5,000 — That's two weeks' salary for me." Result: The decision to fly off to Tahoe with a handful of family and friends. Stephanie still hasn't decided on a date, but figures it will be late this month or early September.

Honeymoon? Forget it. Stephanie will have to return to "The Girl from U.N.C.L.E." and Gary plans to leave for London to star in a film for his own company.

Civil Service Posts Vacant

The Defense Supply Agency, Columbus, is seeking applicants for a number of mechanical equipment quality control assistants.

The assistants, with a starting salary of $6,451, will be located in manufacturing plants in Columbus and other central Ohio areas to inspect and accept supply items for the U. S. Government.

In announcing the vacancies, the bulletin noted that many former employes of automotive, construction and other manufacturing activities may be qualified to fill the Civil Service posts.

Interested persons are to contact Keathley Maranville, Quality Assurance Division, DCASO, Columbus. The phone number is 236-3144.

OSP Officers At Marion Riot

Six men from the Circleville State Highway Patrol Post were dispatched to the Marion Correctional Institute Monday to help quell rioting of 900 inmates there.

The six who joined 250 other law officers at the reformatory were Sgt. J. W. Pribble, Patrolmen Dale Starcher, P. J. Ranck, J. P. McCourt, Albert Price and Cpl. E. W. Wigglesworth.

Of the six, Price and Wigglesworth have returned. The others will remain indefinitely.

Stock Mart Rally Fizzles

NEW YORK (AP)—A morning rally in the stock market failed and prices were down sharply once again early this afternoon in heavy trading.

On the basis of points in the Dow Jones industrial average, the market slide was now worse than the plunge of spring 1962, a 200-point drop.

From the Feb. 9 closing high of 995.15 in the Dow industrials to Monday night's close of 792.03, the loss was 203.12.

This was stretched by the loss of another 5.68 at noon today when the Dow industrials stood at 786.35.

Wall Street comment was published to the effect that "discouragement is giving way to bewildement" and that "puzzlement among brokers is deepened" because the stock market is not supposed to discount the same thing twice.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.8 at 282.3 with industrials off 2.2, rails off 2.0 and utilities off .1.

$4.7 Billion OKd To Aid Mortgages

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House conferees agreed today on a compromise bill to pump an additional $4.76 billion of government mortgage purchase funds into the sagging home-building industry.

In coming to a quick agreement on the legislation at their first meeting, the conferees wrote in the highest possible figure by accepting all the devices carried in both the House and Senate versions.

Sponsors said the compromise measure probably will be called up Wednesday in the Senate and could be signed into law by the end of this week.

The new funds would be channeled through the Federal National Mortgage Association. They would apply to FHA-insured and VA-guaranteed mortgages.

The same set of conferees also agreed on a second measure — a mass transit subsidy bill authorizing an additional $300 million to carry on this program in fiscal 1968 and 1969.

This followed the Senate version. The House had voted only for $50 million in 1968.

Attorney Sees No Threat In Antiwar Group Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark told the House Committee on Un-American Activities today that current antiwar activity "can hardly be considered a threat."

He added: "There is no need for new legislation because a panoply of laws, state and federal, presently protects the national interest."

In a sharp worded statement, Clark said legislation aimed at Americans who try to block shipment of troops or materiel to Viet Nam or seek to send supplies to the Viet Cong "is undesirable for more reasons than lack of necessity."

Committee members planned to question Clark about whether the Justice Department had prosecuted Americans who had solicited or sent supplies or money to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

Clark said the bill, whose chief sponsor is acting committee chairman Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., would inject federal law into "clear state and local jurisdiction." He said there is no indication that state and local law enforcement is not doing the necessary job.

Clark cited existing laws, which deal with sabotage of military material and installations, trepass on military property, port security, sedition and protection of federal property, and said: "These laws are adequate to protect the federal interest."

He said also that the Pool bill is objectionable because of "is prohibition against sending medical and other needed supplies for members of the armed forces and civilians held prisoner by hostile forces" and "its excessive and indiscriminant penalty which would attach the same severe sanctions to saboteurs and sitins alike."

The bill would authorize a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, a co-sponsor of the Pool bill, called Clark's contention that the obstructionist campaign was essentially a propaganda effort "an interesting statement."

Ashbrook — Would you call sending money to the Viet Cong propaganda?

Clark—We know of no money that has reached the Viet Cong.

Ashbrook—Would you call collection of blood propaganda?

Clark—We know of no blood that has actually left this country. . . We're talking about the facts, not the suppositions.

Ashbrook — would you call blocking troop trains essentially propaganda?

The deputy attorney general replied that it was an "effort to get publicity rather than stop a rain they knew they could not stop."

W. B. Saxbe Here Monday

William B. Saxbe, Ohio Attorney General, will be guest of honor at a 2:30 p. m. coffee meeting Monday at the Pickaway Arms.

Saxbe, a Republican seeking a third term in the state post, will meet with office holders, local Republican officials and other Pickaway County party members.

The attorney-general, in his campaign tour, is conducting a program to alert Ohioans to the con men who "bilk them out of $300 million annually."

He is also campaigning for better training and more pay for Ohio policemen and deputy sheriffs.

A resident of Mechanicsburg, he is a former speaker as well as majority leader of the Ohio House of Representatives. He was first elected to public office in 1947.

Through the Consumer Frauds and Crimes Department of his office, Saxbe has conducted investigations and collects extensive files on confidence men operating in Ohio.

Inspection Due At Airport Site

A detailed look at a proposed site for a county airport will be conducted Friday morning, according to Pickaway's Board of Commissioners.

John Cornett, a representative of the Ohio Division of Aviation, will join the commissioners, county engineer and members of a local airport advisory group for a ground inspection. The proposed site is in the vicinity of the old County Home, about four miles east of Circleville off Route 22.

Part of the land under study is owned by the county. Another tract deemed necessary for the project is the property of Sterley and Forest Croman. The area was deemed feasible for airport purposes after an initial look last Friday.

County Engineer Henry McCrady already has prepared a preliminary map sketch of the proposed airstrip. The area it covers will be the subject of Friday's inspection.

* * *

A KEY aspect of the visual check, according to the commissioners, will be distances required for aircraft approaches in relationship to a road in the vicinity. It has been pointed out that one short section of the East Ringgold - Southern Road might have to be relocated.

The other highway involved is the Winstead Road, a roadway that deadends a short distance east of its intersection with East Ringgold-Southern.

Lloyd Melvin, commission chairman, said every avenue will be explored in an effort to come up with a workable program at the proposed site. "Failure to initiate a construction project this time could well mean the end of a county airport venture," he added.

Considerable time and effort was expended earlier toward a joint airport program with Ross County. The project was abandoned this month, with each county setting out on its own to secure an aviation facility.

In other county business conducted Monday afternoon, the solons received a petition requesting the erection of a blinker light on Old Route 23. The section concerned is at the top of a hill near the First Baptist Church.

The petition listed 43 signatures, mostly persons living in the immediate vicinity. The request was referred to the county engineer for study.

The purchase of an electric fan for use in the juvenile court office and a typewriter for the sheriff's department was approved.

Procurement Lists Available

The Defense Construction Supply Center (DCSC), Columbus, announced today that new Advance Procurement Planning Lists are available at its offices.

Manufacturing concerns interested in supplying the wide variety of over 600,000 construction and automotive supply items managed by the DCSC are urged to write to the center for copies of the listings. The lists are being used throughout the Defense Supply Agency activities to inform industry about future buying plans.

Information included in the listing covers such specifics as the Federal stock number of the item, item nomenclature, applicable specifications or other technical data, quantity of items and scheduled period of procurement for items.

Inquiries should be directed to Defense Construction Supply Center, 3990 E. Broad St., Columbus, O. 43215.

qualification standards need not be lowered.

"What I do believe is that through the application of advanced educational techniques we can salvage tens of thousands of these men, each year, first for productive military careers and later for productive roles in society," he said, adding:

"We are, therefore, in the current fiscal year going to accept 40,000 men who currently fall into the disqualification category — men who fail to score well on the standard aptitude tests, but who when exposed to intensive instruction in military skills and practical on-the-job training can qualify as fully satisfactory soldiers; men who have been deprived of proper health care, but who can be brought up to physical fitness standards within a period of a few weeks; men whose 'low aptitude' and lack of achievement are a function of external environment rather than internal potential."

In succeeding fiscal years, McNamara said, 100,000 additional men will be taken into the program.

The Pentagon failed to win Congressional approval last year for an experimental program known as STEP (Special Training for Enlisted Personnel) which would have trained 15,000 volunteers who failed to qualify for service under physical or mental standards.

In a statement issued in connection with McNamara's speech, the Pentagon said:

"In our proposed program, we will not be experimenting. We will be producing men for regular duty in a reasonable period of time. Unqualified men will not be retained; 85 per cent or more are expected to qualify.

"STEP concentrated on men without demonstrated aptitudes," the statement said. "We now propose to accept men with demonstrated apittudes."

Cost of Living Up 2.8 Pct. Over Year Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living rose four-tenths of one per cent in July because of higher transporation costs, and a slight rise in food prices. The food price rise was not as large as usual in July.

The Bureau of Labor Statis- consumer price index now stands at 113.3, which is 2.8 per cent higher than a year earlier. The 113.3 figure means that it now costs $11.33 for a typical selection of commodities which cost $10 in 1957-59, the period on which the index is based.

A rise of 1.2 per cent in transportation costs in July resulted largely from increased transit fares in New York City and higher prices for used cars, gasoline, tires, auto repairs, and insurance. Subway and bus fare went up by a nickel to 20 cents in New York City.

Used car prices rose 1.8 per cent; new car prices were down 0.1 per cent, much less than the usual July decline.

Food prices usually go up in July by 1.4 per cent but last month's increase was 0.4 per cent. Prices of meats, fruits, and vegetables were generally steady. Milk, butter and eggs went up more than usual at this season. Egg prices took a 5.5 per cent jump when hot weather cut production.

Because of increases in the cost of living over the past few months about 1.14 million workers will receive wage increase. These are workers covered by "escalation" clauses in contracts.

A two-cent hourly increase automotive parts, farm and construction equipment, aerospace will go to slightly more than a million workers, in auto and and metal working industries. Others will receive increases ranging from one to five cents an hour.

As for the trend in price, restaurant meals rose again, as did the price of cigarettes, as some states and localities raised taxes.

Medical care costs continued to go up at the accelerated rate shown in recent months. Asked if this was due to medicare, Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of labor statistics, said his bureau does not ask doctors why they raise fees.

The bureau said about half of the rise in the consumer price index over the last year has been caused by increased charges for nearly all kinds of consumer services. These increased charges average 4.1 per cent. Transportation and medical service charges each climbed 5 per cent over the year. Other types of services exception was rents which with a 1.3 per cent increase, continued their slow rise.

Food prices averaged 3.1 per cent higher than July a year ago. Restaurant meal prices were up 5 per cent, dairy products 6.5 per cent and meats 4.5 per cent. Fresh vegetable prices have dropped 11 per cent over the year, mainly because of a 40 per cent decline in potato prices from their record high of last year.

During the year prices have inceased by from 3 to 5 per cent for such items as fuel oil, apparel, newspapers, cigarettes, furniture and tires. But prices averaged slightly lower for new cars and appliances. Used car prices are down about 2 per cent from a year ago.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six Negro leaders, brought together to answer questions about the civil rights struggle and the kind of tactics they favored, revealed a wide split in their thinking.

This was one day after President Johnson, in a long speech on civil rights and the Negro problem, protested riots and violence and urged whites and Negroes to show a sense of responsibility and a reliance upon justice.

Some of the Negro leaders, interviewed Sunday on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press," sounded as if they hadn't heard Johnson or were ignoring him. This showed up particularly in questions about violence and nonviolence.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and leader of some recent Negro demonstrations in Chicago where whites reacted violently, said: " believe firmly in nonviolence."

But King insisted demonstrations must continue, not because they solved problems by themselves but because they brought attention to the problems.

Floyd B. McKissick had another view. He is national director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

He said: "Nonviolence is something of the past. We believe in nonviolence providing nobody hits us. When somebody hits us, we believe in self - defense."

James H. Meredith, shot several months ago while leading a one-man march into Mississippi to try to prove Negroes could walk the highways safely there, said: "Nonviolence is incompatible with American ideas."

Asked if he meant that — if several whites or Negroes are killed and the law does not punish them — people ought to organize as vigilants and go out and take the law into their own hands and commit violence, he replied: "That is exactly what I am saying, exactly."

At that point Stokely Carmichael interrupted to say: "If those won't do it, who is going to do it?"

Carmichael, the foremost Negro advocate of "black power," is chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, perhaps the most militant, or at least the most militant-sounding, of the Negro groups.

"We Negroes," he said, "are the only people in this country who have to protect ourselves against our protection. Since the police forces of this contray are not protecting us, then who is going to protect us? We are going to go down together, all of us."

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was not letting the NAACP name get wrapped up in violence or slogans of violence.

"I think we'll have to come to law and order," Wilkins said. "We all come to the courtroom and the law eventually. We find we can't solve it with rhetoric."

Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, said, "I find myself terribly distressed by a great deal of this conversation here today." He said of "black power": "We do not feel one gets pride or dignity or power simply by being white or being black."

Students of Local Studio Earn Honors in Talent Test

Students from the McFerren Music Studio, 386 Eva Drive, earned numerous honors during the weekend when they participated in the Ohio Youth Talent contest at Zanesville.

Fourteen students from the local studio took part. Leighton McFerren is their instructor and director.

Three top awards went to Linda Gallion for solos on guitar, mandolin and a vocal solo. Other students receiving outstanding ratings were Cindy Barnhill, George Courson and Johnny Johnson for guitar solos.

Earning superior ratings for their guitar solos were: David McCain, Anna Blevins, Carol Young, Wendell Calton, Mitch Martin, John McFerren, Wesley Blum, Danny Garrett, Bill McFerren and Becky Crosby.

* * *

CINDY Barnhill and Johnny Johnson each received a third place rating in the division they were entered for guitar solos. Johnson received a special merit award.

The guitar duet by Carol Young and John McFerren received an excellent rating; the vocal duet by Linda Gallion and David McCain earned a superior rating; and a guitar quintet of Linda Gallion, Bill McFerren, David McCain, Wendell Calton and George Courson received a superior rating.

Miss Gallion was also selected to appear on the Ohio Youth Talent All - Star Show Saturday evening.

All of the solos were judged by the president of the American Guild of Music, Elmer Herrick. The groups were judged by Mark Pele of Torontol Ontario, who is a director of the Guild.

The local musicians were accompanied to Zanesville by Mr. and Mrs. McFerren and son, Bobby, Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Martin and children and Ralph Calton.

Prayer Bill Vote Slated, Dirksen Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is going to get a chance to vote before Labor Day on a proposed school prayer amendment, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Monday.

Dirksen told an informal news conference that he plans to move to substitute for a United Nations Childrens's funds resolution his proposal to amend the Constitution to provide for voluntary prayers in the schools. It would have the effect of overturning a Supreme Court decision against such prayers.

The resolution he will seek to supplant would designate Oct. 31 as United Nations Children's Educational Fund Day.

The prayer amendment has drawn strong opposition in Senate Judiciary Committee meetings, on the grounds that it would infringe on the traditional separation of church and make no further moves toward prying it out of committee.

Finger Lake Country Set To Greet 'Ike College'

SENECA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — This village in New York's picturesque Finger Lakes section, attuned to the hum of industry, is keenly awaiting the benefits of higher education.

Within a year, Seneca Falls will be a college town. The first wave of a 1,500-student complement will be attending a shiny new institution named for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Eisenhower College, a projected four-year, coeducational liberal arts school, will begin taking shape in September when construction starts on five buildings.

The prospect of an operating college—with an anticipated $3-million annual boost to the area economy—has stirred activity by the village and its residents.

Streets and intersections are being widened to cope with increased traffic. New traffic control systems are planned. Real estate developers completed three apartment projects within the last year. Villagers are sharing in a campaign for funds to help the college get started.

The college thus far has received $1.5 million in pledges and $5.2 million in federal grants and low-interest loans. College President John C. Rosenkrans predicts $2.5 million will be raised in a national campaign pegged to President and Mrs. Eisenhowers' golden wedding anniversary.

Rosenkrans, a Seneca Falls insurance broker before his appointment to head the college, said construction of 30 buildings on the 215-acre campus overlooking Lake Cayuga will be scheduled over a 10-year period.

Admittedly inxperienced in higher education, Rosenkrans is depending upon a staff of trained administrators to operate the college.

The staff will include Dr. Earl J. McGrath, former U.S. commissioner of education and a former chancellor of the University of Kansas; Dr. W. Robert Bokelman, former chief of the business administration section of the U.S. Office of Education; and Joseph D. Coffee, former assistant to the president of Columbia University. McGrath has been named chancellor; Bokelman and Coffee, vice presidents.

The board of trustees is headed by Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. Members include James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's White House press secretary and now an executive of the American Broadcasting Co., and Dr. Kevin McCann, former president of Defiance College who was a speech writer for Eisenhower.

Indonesia Ends Malaysia Drive

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— Indonesia officially disbanded its "Crush Malaysia Command" Monday in a new move aimed at securing peace with its Asian neighbor.

A spokesman said the command would revert to the Supreme Command as it was before the confrontation began three years ago.

President Sukarno presided over a meeting which also took up new measures of seeking "speedy solutions" to the Malaysian issue, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said internal disturbances in Indonesia, such as riots between pro - and anti-Sukarno forces in Badug last week, would not effect relations with Malaysia.

Supersonic Plane

Propaganda for and against the supersonic transport plane has been zooming about with speed befitting a vehicle which is expected to fly through the air at 2,000 miles an hour in 1974.

Proponents have turned it into a race, with American prestige on the line. They point worriedly to the 1,400-mile-an-hour British-French Concorde, which will be in production by 1971, and they note that the Soviet Union has announced plans of its own.

The United States must not lag, they say, quickly adding that the SST will be more than the fastest means of travel. It will represent a great technological advance from which other blessings will flow.

Those who doubt that the race is always to the swift do not limit their objections to questioning the need to get from New York to Los Angeles in time for a second breakfast. They doubt that the world's air routes will be able to use the 400 SSTs projected for the 1980s. They say about a dozen would overfill requirements for the next 20 years.

The Johnson administration is not among those who would go slow. Capacity for Suggestibility

By John Chamberlain

It is ridiculous to suppose that history is made by conspiracy. So, when Arthur Schlesinger Jr. speaks of the "ragged" jumble of mistakes, cross-purposes an occasional sensible or heroic acts that weave the pattern of our times, we can only say that he is being realistic. But there is an element that historian Schlessinger overlooks, and that is mankind's infinite capacity for suggestibility. When one man kills eight people in Chicago, another follows by shooting fifteen in Texas. What one person does or says inevitably puts ideas into the heads of others, who though they may have the best intentions in the world, cannot resist taking orders from that mysterious source that is planted in the depths of the subconscious.

We may be sure that West Europeans are not conspiring to deliver their countries to the Communists of East Europe. But West Europeans are just as suggestible as anybody else, and it is incontrovertible that some interested parties are busy planting the propaganda that the U.S.A. can do nothing right. My friend Dr. Bela Fabian, head of the Hungarian Freedom Fighters organization in New York, has been touring Europe this summer, holding press conferences in which he offers the counter-suggestion that America is just as much the friend of freedom now as it has been in the past. His words, so he writes, are listened to respectfully by the press, which lead me to believe that "suggestibility" could work for the U. S. if only enough people would speak up in our behalf.

In Geneva a European newspaperman talked with Dr. Fabian about his conferences. "Are you not surprised," the newspaperman asked, "to have such a tremendous publicity? This is not only for your cause. You came in a time when the people here are just overwhelmed with anti-American publicity. There is a UN economic and social conference. Everybody talking against the Americans. The whole world is humanitarian, only the Americans are the Nazis. Then there is an ecumenical conference with eight Soviet bishops, with four Hungarian Communist bishops, with Justinian and Rumanian archbishop with a big golden cross and with a Nazi and a Communist past — he forced two million Roman Catholics in Rumania to go over to the Eastern church — as a steady podium here for anti-Americanism, without having a nice American pastor who would say a good word for his country.

"And in such an atmosphere you are going around Europe having press conferences telling the people that the concentration camps are in the Soviet Union and in Hungary, with Hungarians still in prison — and in Siberia — after ten years. You are telling them the secret trials are in Hungary. Fresh air! Tell me, Dr. Fabian why are the Americans sleeping, why are they relinquishing the columns of the European newspapers and the conference tables to the Communists without moving an ear?"

"Dear John", so Dr. Fabian writes me, "I am asking you the same. Our friends don't know that the psychological warfare is as important as the physical war"

The same suggestibility, maneuvered by the Left, that is hurting the American cause in Europe could be at work in the U. S. itself to intensify racial disturbances in our city slums. Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago thinks that rioters in his city are organized and trained by "outsiders." Whether this can be proved is a question for the FBI. But the contemporary popularity of the "guerilla" in the slums is a clear demonstration that "suggestibility" is at work.

My friend Paul Bethel, head of the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, thinks there may be a definite connection between the goings-on at the recent Tri-Continental Communist Conference in Havana and the uprisings in Cleveland and Chicago. Robert F. Williams, an American Negro militant, attended the Havana Conference. "William's berserk anti-Americanism," says Bethel, "should not be lightly dismissed as irrelevant. For years he has been directing a series of broadcasts in English to the U. S. from Havana. These broadcasts openly call upon the American Negro to engage in force and violence against the American government."

As they might say in Havana, "Conspiracy no, suggestibility si." So why not do a little "suggesting" for our own cause?

The Business World

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If the public is confused about where today's prosperity may be leading, can you blame it? Just look at what the news offers as clues for the trends for tomorrow:

—Declining stock prices but rising corporate profits and dividends.

—Growing total of personal incomes but an upward spurt in the cost of living.

—Soaring interest rates but a steady climb in the demand for loans.

—Money supply still on the rise but the tightest money market in years for those who borrow.

—A big drop in machine tool orders but an increase in the backlog of orders.

—Beefing up wage demands as unemployment drops but exuberant planning for business expansion despite the threat to profit margins.

—Slowdown in auto sales and housing starts but a stepping up of total industrial activity.

And to all these trends that at first glance seem to contradict each other might be added the situation in Washington.

The monetary authorities, worried by the inflationary signs and fearing the overheating of the economy as the 67th month of the business upswing nears, are clamping down on the supply of credit and exhorting bankers to make fewer loans to business.

But the administration and Congress, preoccupied perhaps with the approaching congressional elections, are apparently leaving the fiscal problems of higher taxation and increasing government spending for reappraisal at the end of the year.

The confused man in the street can only judge for himself, and as best he can, what is likely to happen in the months ahead.

Anyway, today's problems themselves take up most of his time.

Housewives are trying to stretch family budgets around rising prices—whether it's for food, or rent, or transportation, or medical care.

Businessmen are wheedling their bankers for top priority for loans wanted for new plants and equipment or for increased activity at old plants.

Bankers and savings and loan associations are competing for the investor's savings so that they can lend to business or finance home mortgages.

And many families have been priced out of the housing market by rising down payments and higher mortgage interest lates.

All of these factors, usually classed as brakes on the boom, have so far produced very little of a slowdown in over-all industrial activity and consumer spending. The pace isn't as fast as in the first months of the year but almost everyone considered that pace dangerously swift. But the economy in general is still expanding—and increased defense outlays seem likely to keep it going.

Fortune Cheers Cockney Actor

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) —Fortune's darling in the film world today is Michael Caine, a breezy Cockney who looks more like a rakish young English aristocrat.

The 33-year-old actor, who has spent most of his career subsisting on crumbs from life's banquet, has a frank, heart-warming goal, now that he's on top.

"It's money, pure and simple," he said, his clear blue eyes lighting with a gleam of honest cupidity.

"I spent too long without it. For 10 years my average wage was $12 a week. Now I want something I never had before—security. To me that means money.

"It won't change me. It's too late to change when you're 33, and having your last go-round. You only change if you suddenly become a millionaire at 20 or 25."

Michael has made five pictures in 19 months without a day off. They include the controversial "Alfie," and "The Wrong Box," one of Britain's best comedies in years.

Besieged by offers, Caine now gets $250,000 and up a picture, plus a percentage of profits.

Although he appears to the manor born, Michael is the son of a London charwoman and a fish market porter and proud of his Cockney heritage.

"It's an advantage," he observed. "for a Cockney, there is no way to go but up.

"Cockneys have the strongest sense of survival of any people in the world, and an actor needs that. They also have a sense of humor. I've never met a pompous Cockney."

Michael went to work as an office boy for a film producer at 16. Before getting his first real break as an understudy for Peter O'Toole in a play, he labored as a warehouse freight handler, a cement mixer, and a pneumatic drill operator in the streets. He also toted a rifle for the crown for a year in Korea as an infantryman.

By the time he landed a starring role, he had appeared in 125 live television plays and more than 350 stage dramas, ranging from "Hamlet" to "Getting Gertie's Garter."

"When you finally make it,' he remarked wryly, "people say youre lucky or that you've got talent. But sweat and hard work are synonymous with luck and talent."

The loan of his mother's life savings—they amounted to $700 — helped tide Michael over one critical juncture.

"That makes me sound like a bit of a bum," he said cheerfully. "But her attitude was, 'I don't want you to be an actor, but I'll back you financially anyway, and when you fail you can turn to something else.'

"That was the wonderful thing about it. She was loyal enough to back me even though she thought I was wrong. She wanted me to have my chance. But it was the finest $700 she ever spent."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Anxiety and emotional stress of patients and their families are completely understandable. But, preoccupied with their own concerns, they sometimes thoughtlessly make unreasonable demands on hospital personnel.

Nurses, aides, and attendants already harried and overburdened by chores too extensive to be listed, are trying to fulfill obligations and to maintain the serenity so vital to the patients recovery.

Impatience, irritability and annoyance toward hospital workers deprive the patient of the cheer, comfort and emotional support which comes from a pleasant relationship with the staff.

A sympathetic awareness by patients and their families of the complexities of running a hospital can do much to encourage the sustained dedication of those who have but one common purpose — the responsibility and desire to return each patient to maximum health at maximum speed and with maximum comfort.

Physicians accustomed to the many facets of a hospital that effect the treatment, the cure and the emotional support of patients never take these institutions for granted.

When patients recover from an illness, they, too, must recall the many contributions made by the staff that made their hospital experience bearable.

After all, a hospital is truly a remarkable institution. Built of mortar, concrete and bricks, the structure is cemented by selfless devotion and dedication to patients.

When a patient first enters a hospital, he is usually sufficiently ill or uncomfortable so that medical care is his only concern. Upon admission, there is a concentrated effort by a team of doctors, nurses and laboratory technicians to accumulate all the scientific evidence for diagnosis and treatment as quickly as possible.

Hospital personnel are a dedicated team, whose energies are coordinated to provide the maximum care for each patient. For every member of the team who comes into direct contact with the patient there are ten other unsung heroes working behind the scenes.

Safety engineers, office personnel, clerical workers, laboratory technicians, dieticians and telephone operators are some of the many unnoticed contibutors to the comfort and welfare of all patients.

Others work in recovery rooms and operating rooms, sterilizing gloves, gauze, bandages, instruments and equipment. Additional personnel are busy cleaning, cooking, serving and providing every possible service for the patient.

A hospital has all the problems of a hotel, with the additional and primary responsibility of returning patients to good health.

Good health must not be taken for granted. Pamper it and it will continue long.

Supersonic Plane

Propaganda for and against the supersonic transport plane has been zooming about with speed befitting a vehicle which is expected to fly through the air at 2,000 miles an hour in 1974.

Proponents have turned it into a race, with American prestige on the line. They point worriedly to the 1,400-mile-an-hour British-French Concorde, which will be in production by 1971, and they note that the Soviet Union has announced plans of its own.

The United States must not lag, they say, quickly adding that the SST will be more than the fastest means of travel. It will represent a great technological advance from which other blessings will flow.

Those who doubt that the race is always to the swift do not limit their objections to questioning the need to get from New York to Los Angeles in time for a second breakfast. They doubt that the world's air routes will be able to use the 400 SSTs projected for the 1980s. They say about a dozen would overfill requirements for the next 20 years.

The Johnson administration is not among those who would go slow. It is backing the SST, right up to the point of giving it the top priority heretofore merited by the Viet Nam war and the space program. This status was established last April, but not announced publicly, suggesting a sense of unease within the White House.

If that is the case, the administration should reconsider the priority in the light of other needs. It might also want to reassess the SST's effect on an economy which has more than enough inflationary pressures.

Capacity for Suggestibility

It is ridiculous to suppose that history is made by conspiracy. So, when Arthur Schlesinger Jr. speaks of the "ragged" jumble of mistakes, cross-purposes an occasional sensible or heroic acts that weave the pattern of our times, we can only say that he is being realistic. But there is an element that historian Schlessinger overlooks, and that is mankind's infinite capacity for suggestibility. When one man kills eight people in Chicago, another follows by shooting fifteen in Texas. Safety engineers, office personnel, clerical workers, laboratory technicians, dieticians and telephone operators are some of the many unnoticed contibutors to the comfort and welfare of all patients.

Others work in recovery rooms and operating rooms, sterilizing gloves, gauze, bandages, instruments and equipment. Additional personnel are busy cleaning, cooking, serving and providing every possible service for the patient.

A hospital has all the problems of a hotel, with the additional and primary responsibility of returning patients to good health.

Good health must not be taken for granted. Pamper it and it will continue long.

Handful of Cons Is Blamed for Marion Rioting

MARION, Ohio (AP) —Blame for the fire-setting, window-breaking, guard-baiting disturbance that had nearly half as many officers as inmates inside Marion Correctional Institution probably can be blamed on a handful of prisoners, state officials said today.

The only one of several fires reported to have caused severdamage Monday ruined the prison library and there were no injuries except for one inmate who required treatment for smoke inhalation.

But the sepctre of the Ohio Penitentiary fire tragedy of the early 1930s, in which scores perished, must have crossed many minds during this first serious disturbance since the medium security institution here opened in 1955.

Trouble which began around the noon hour wasn't considered fully under control until evening, by which time all 1,114 inmates had been rounded up and locked up.

The first flareup came when fire broke out in the quartermaster unit, doing $500 damage to clothing and bedding and resulting in an inmate being sent to a correctional cell for punishment.

Then, about 700 or 800 prisoners refused to report to their jobs after the lunch hour, instead milling around corridors and the gymnasium.

Fire hit the library, gym, internal administration offices and an arts-crafts room in the main building which contains the dormitories and most of the institution's other facilities.

Windows were smashed and inmates taunted guards.

The highway patrol, sheriff's deputies and Marion police were called to aid the institution's personnel complement of 269, including 189 guards. Some 160 highway patrolmen and 40-50 other officers moved in.

Armed with riot guns, tear gas and nightsticks they never had to use, the officers herded the convicts into block formation in the main yard, which is enclosed by double wire fences about 20 feet high.

It took some time to flush out a few but finally all were accounted for.

Whether the discipline of the inmate after the quartermaster room fire led to the further disturbance was uncertain, said Ohio Corrections Chief Maury C. Koblentz who took personal charge at the scene.

He promised a strenous investigation starting today "to ferret out the people responsible for this."

Meanwhile, Koblentz said, "if it was planned we haven't learned about it yet."

He said MC Supt. Lemoyne Green knew of no grievance to bring on such a protest.

Edmard Finley, corrections division central office ducation consultant who came up from Columbus with Koblentz, said investigation likely would show only a handful of prisoners at the root of the outbreak.

Open Church Trial Urged For Controversial Priest

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Influentitial Roman Catholic voices today were offering support to the plea of the suspended California priest, the Rev. William DuBay, for an open ecclesiastical trial of his case.

Without one, the Vatican recently upheld his suspension. Father DuBay, protesting the lack of a hearing at which he could defend himself, has appealed to Pope Paul VI.

The widely respected Jesuit weekly, America, saying the situation points up deficiencies in the church's legal procedures, declared:

"In the name of basic human dignity and the procedural guarantees indispensable for that dignity's recognition, Father DuBay should be given an impartial, public and procedurally impeccable trial."

Some other American Catholic publications have voiced similar views.

The independently edited newspaper, the National Catholic Reporter, said last week that Father DuBay "is performing a service for the church" in insisting that the church heed the rights of due process.

"Today it is an almost universal conviction of mankind that judicial proceedings held in secret and in the absence of the accused are not likely to provide 'efficacious' protection of personal rights."

The issue has broad implications for the church, in the light of the Second Vatican Council's stress on the place of individual conscience, ideas and expression in contributing to the church's life.

America, in its strongly worded editorial, disclaimed any sympathy for Father DuBay's doctrinal or practical viewpoinst, but declared that he should have due process of law for his "sake — and even more, for the church's sake."

Father DuBay, 31, first got into trouble in 1964 when he publicly accused his superior, James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, of Los Angeles, of "gross malfeasance" and urged Pope Paul to remove him.

The priest claimed Cardinal McIntyre had failed to provide moral leadership against racial discrimination, and had suppressed priests who sought to do so.

Cardinal McIntyre transferred him several times, eventually to Santa Monica, Calif., and last February suspended him from exercising his priesthood, after he urged a labor union for priests, and published a book, "The Human Church," urging wide reforms, such as election of bishops.

He appealed his suspension, asking for "an ecclesiastical court before which I may make a defense and recite protections of due process."

On July 30, he was notified by the apostolic delegate to the United States, Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, of Washington, D.C., that the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of Faith had upheld his suspension as "well founded and just."

Father DuBay, in appealing to Pope Paul, commented: "Not only have I been tried in absentia by anonymous judges and prevented from appearing in person with counsel and witnesses, but also I have been denied the right of confronting my accusers."

In its editorial, America said that "by modern standards, canon law is sadly deficient in procedural safeguards" for clergy, not only because of their reluctance to clash with bishops, but because the law is weighted in favor of bishops.

Auto Tire Ad Rules Are Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — New guidelines for the advertising and labeling of automobile tires, designed as a stop-gap measure until Congress fixes minimum safety standards, will go into effect next Feb. 19, the Federal Trade Commission said Monday.

The commission will begin enforcement at the same time of stiffer guidlines on the use of tire guarantees.

In announcing the effective date of its new regulations, the commission again called federal legislation the best solution to the problem of tire safety and grading.

The guidelines would affect advertising and labeling of tires for their load carrying capacity, inflation pressure, grade or line of the tire, and ply rating.

More than 1,100 different brands of tires are available to American consumers under either the manufacturer's brand or subsidiary and private brands, the commission said, but the consumer has no way to compare the relative grade or safety of these products.

To avoid deception on guarantees, the commission said, any adjustment should be based on the actual selling price of the tire or the dealer's actual price at the time of adjustment. The basis for adjustment must be disclosed in advertising referring to guarantees.

Appalachia Parley To Be Expanded

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A conference for discussing the role of business in the development of the 12-state Appalachia region will be expanded into a two-day institute, Ohio University officials said Monday.

They referred to a meet set previously for Sept. 26 and said plans now being revised call for sessions to run through Sept. 27 on the university campus.

Top management officials from throughout the Appalachia region are to be invited along with representatives of the office of economic opportunity, the Appalachia regional commission, and the economic development administration.

315-Foot Telephone Tower Is Erected by Helicopter

MARIETTA, Ohio AP) — A new microwave tower near here called the tallest of its kind in the country, was installed from the sky down rather than from the ground up.

General Telephone Co. of Ohio used a helicopter to put up the tower recently at Barlow, a small community 12 miles west of here. The Ohio company is a subsidiary of General Telephone & Electronics Corp.

Robert M. Wopat, president of General Telephone of Ohio, said use of the helicopter speeded up the operation by at least three days. The job took four days from the air, he said, and would have taken from seven to 10 by crane.

The 315 - foot tower, Wopat said, "is the newest type of microwave application, and it is the tallest of its type in the country."

He praised the helicopter crew and construction workers, saying "they were faced with many problems, but they skillfully overcame each one."

It was the first time a helicopter was used to erect a telephone microwave tower, he said. The operation, he said, involved lifting sections of the tower, dangling them below the helicopter and easing them into place. The first section, was put into the ground by crane.

"This operation was touchy in that the pilot was unable to see directly below . . . He took directions from a crew member who sometimes had to hang out an open door."

The new sections were bolted in place by three men in a "crow's nest" atop the rising tower.

The tower is part of a microwave system originating in Cambridge, with other towers in Senecaville, Caldwell, Beverly and Lowell.

Chicago Helicopter Airways provided the helicopter and crew. The job was under contract to the Selinski Construction Co. of Canton.

Ashville Slates Pre-School Clinic

The annual pre-school clinic for students entering the first grade at Ashville School will be held Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 29 and 30, according to Ed W. Irwin, principal.

First graders from the Duvall area and the trailer courts are asked to enroll between 9 a.m. and noon on Monday in the primary building.

Pupils from Ashville, South Bloomfield and Little Walnut are to enroll 9-11 a. m. on Tuesday. Parents are to bring birth certificates and records of immunizations and vaccinations with their children when registering.

Students of grades 2-8, who are new to the Ashville Elementary School, are also to enroll on Monday or Tuesday.

Katherine Measamer and Allen Gibson United in Marriage at Methodist Church

MRS. ALLEN E. GIBSON

Miss Katherine Measamer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Measamer, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, and Mr. Allen Edward Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor Gibson, New Milford, Conn., exchanged wedding vows 4 p. m. Saturday at the Methodist Church.

Rev. Paul I. Wachs performed the double ceremony. The altar was decorated with gladioli, carnations and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. John Barney, organist, presented pre - nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a princess style gown of floor length, and white chantilly lace. The gown was accented with a chapel length lace train and an English illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Robert Osbourne was matron of honor. She wore an acacia yellow street length dress with a pleat in the back.

Her headpiece was of the same fabric of the dress covered with embroidered yellow flowers. Her flowers were on a sandalwood fan with yellow and bronze pompom chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaid, Sue Hosler, was attired in the same outfit as the matron of honor. Susan Slack and Cathy Archer were flower girls.

Henry T. Gibson Jr., served as the best man. Ushers were Charles Bulkley Gibson and Ronald Holtman.

The bride's mother wore a dress with cob web net of magenta silk shantung and matching accessories. She wore a corsage of magenta chrysanthemums and white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother chose a light royal silk with a matching lace coat. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held at Pickaway Arms immediately following the ceremony. A three - tier cake centered the bride's table and was decorated with fresh yellow and white flowers.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Archer, Mrs. Maynard Slack, Mrs. J. E. Rigby and Mrs. A. S. Harvey. Mrs. James Moffitt presided at the guest book.

For the wedding trip to Kentucky and Tennessee, the bride chose a white lace coat over a spring green silk shantung dress, with white accessories.

The new Mr.and Mrs. Gibson will reside in Salem, Va.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Give Him a Chance

DEAR ABBY: My sister, who is a 50 - year - old divorcee, asked if she could make her home with me. My husband and I have a rather large home, but both his mother and my mother live with us, and we still have two sons living at home which crowds us a little. My sister pays $50 room and board. She recently met a man who, I suppose, is "courting her."

We don't want to spoil her chances with him, but he comes over almost every night for supper, on my sister's invitation. After supper they take over the living room and everybody else has to go to bed. How much longer should we put up with this? He takes her out occasionally, but not very often.

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: I realize it's tough sledding for a 50-year old divorcee, but give him till Christmas, and if he doesn't put a ring in your sister's stocking, you put a bug in her ear.

DEAR ABBY: Re: "NOSE JOB," — the girl who wanted her nose bobbed by a plastic surgeon: Her mother kept saying the girl had her father's nose and his nose fit his face

And you said, a girl's nose doesn't have to fit her father's face. Abby, you should have said if a girl was meant to resemble her father, or any other male relative, she would have a flat chest. Yours sincerely,

ISOBEL

DEAR ISOBLE: Some have.

DEAR ABBY: Permit me to introduce myself. I am Jerry Moshenberg and I edited a wrestling publication for two years, so I feel qualified to say with some authority on the subject of wresting. It is impossible for a man to get anywhere in the wrestling profession unless he weighs 200 mounds, minimum!

And for a 42-year-old to start training for a career in wrestling is useless. Wrestlers should start in their teens as it takes years of hard training to become a pro. So tell "WANTS TO WRESTLE" to forget it, unless he wants to go to Scotland or England where they sanction bouts between men under 200 pounds.

BALTIMORE

DEAR BALTIMORE: "WANT TO WRESTLE" is a woman. What are HER chances?

Katherine Measamer and Allen Gibson United in Marriage at Methodist Church

MRS. ALLEN E. GIBSON

Miss Katherine Measamer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Measamer, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, and Mr. Allen Edward Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor Gibson, New Milford, Conn., exchanged wedding vows 4 p. m. Saturday at the Methodist Church.

Rev. Paul I. Wachs performed the double ceremony. The altar was decorated with gladioli, carnations and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. John Barney, organist, presented pre - nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a princess style gown of floor length, and white chantilly lace. The gown was accented with a chapel length lace train and an English illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Robert Osbourne was matron of honor. She wore an an acacia yellow street length dress with a pleat in the back.

Her headpiece was of the same fabric of the dress covered with embroidered yellow flowers. Her flowers were on a sandalwood fan with yellow and bronze pompom chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaid, Sue Hosler, was attired in the same outfit as the matron of honor. Susan Slack and Cathy Archer were flower girls.

Henry T. Gibson Jr., served as the best man. Ushers were Charles Bulkley Gibson and Ronald Holtman.

The bride's mother wore a dress with cob web net of magenta silk shantung and matching accessories. She wore a corsage of magenta chrysanthemums and white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother chose a light royal silk with a matching lace coat. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held at Pickaway Arms immediately following the ceremony. A three - tier cake centered the bride's table and was decorated with fresh yellow and white flowers.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Archer, Mrs. Maynard Slack, Mrs. J. E. Rigby and Mrs. A. S. Harvey. Mrs. James Moffitt presided at the guest book.

For the wedding trip to Kentucky and Tennessee, the bride chose a white lace coat over a spring green silk shantung dress, with white accessories.

The new Mr.and Mrs. Gibson will reside in Salem, Va.

The bride is a graduate of Denison University and a member of Delta Gamma Sorority. She taught English at Euclid High School.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Denison University and is associated with Delta Upsilon Fraternity. He also attended Case Institute of Technology He is presently enrolled in Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Out-of-city guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson and Cynthia and Jenny of Washington D. CHS Gridiron Candidates Plagued by Aches, Pains

Circleville's football team is plagued with a number of minor aches and pains, according to head football coach Paul Starr.

He noted that at least 10 boys are not up to par, suffering from ailments ranging all the way from a broken toe to sore back, sprains, blisters and a mild case of heat prostration.

The Tiger practice sessions are being held at the new high school on Nicholas Drive.

Tiger coaches this year include Starr, and associates, Dick Fisher, backfield, Jim Lint, ends and tackles; Kent Carpenter, guards and centers; William Grey, freshmen; Brent Bell, junior high.

Grey and Bell are assisting with the varsity until freshmen and junior high practice sessions get under way when school opens.

The Wilmington High School football team, under veteran head coach Dean Waddell, has 70 candidates on hand.

At Washington High School, coach Maurice Pfiefer is teaching his new variation of the I formation to about 51 candidates, including freshmen.

The Miami Trace Panthers are practicing under the watchful eye of coach John Beckley, new head coach.

With about 60 candidates, Beckley is counting on his returning veterans, and reports the first day of practice was "better than expected."

Marksmen from Midlands Collect Trapshoot Titles

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Midlands marksmen collected the most titles from Monday's Introductory Shoot and Champion of Champions events at the Grand American Trapshoot, but the familiar 6-foot-6, 230-pound figure from Nevada stood tall once again.

Dan Orlich, night manager at a Reno famed casino, relinquished his Champion of Champions crown after a three-year reign as best among state champions in their own special compettition but won the Introductory singles title.

The former Green Bay Packers football player, now 42 and winning laurels here since 10 years ago, was the only shooter in a record Introductory field of 1,032 to break all 200 targets from 16 yards.

The battle for Runnerup and Class AA honors in that event was carried over to today after 16 tied with 199 and three of the 16 survived by breaking 100 straight in a first shootoff.

The three included another prominent name in past Grand Americans, Bueford Bailey of Big Springs, Neb., who also grabbed a share of the Champion of Champions title. He and Don Mackerman, Newton, Iowa, tied for that one with 100 of 100. There was no shootoff.

Orlich missed just one clay in that event, also a 16-yard line competition. But one miss is as big as a mile here.

Bill Davis of Harrison, Ohio, whose hometown co-entrant Ray Siegert, gained Class C laurels in the Introductory with a 198 tally, and Ray Dome of Manhattan, Ill., were in the tie with Bailey behind Orlich in the Introductory.

Other winners included Iowans Robert B. Boyd, Le Mars, Class B, 199, and Mary Meadows, Grimes, veteran ladies, 93 of 100; Steve Carmichael, Kansas City, Mo., who won the juniors with 198 and teamed with his dad, S. H. Carmichael, for the parent-child honors with 395 of 400; Doris and John Voss, Omaha, Neb., husband-wife, 383; James A. and E. A. Ross, Uniontown, Pa., brother-brother, 393; Judith C. Allison, Elgin, Ill., 196; Ralph Cornett, Sykesville, Md., Class A, 199, and Mike Schwanz, Fort Wayne, Ind., 194.

Today's program featured more 16-yard firing at 200 targets for class championships.

WHS Boosters Go All Out For 'Roundup'

Members of the Westfall High School Booster Club are going all out to assure a successful "Mustang Roundup."

Approximately 20 persons showed up Monday night to launch drills for the coming program. One of the highlights will be a touch football game, involving mostly adults.

Two teams will compete — the Colts and the Ponies. Last night's initial practice produced two slight casualties. Hi Steinhauser suffered a pulled muscle and John Reynolds was the victim of a torn shirt.

A current point of interest concerning the upcoming grid game is whether Lloyd Minor has displayed enough talent to be named quarterback. There is further speculation as to which team will gain his services.

* * *

ANOTHER feature will be the "Thundering Herd" band, composed of women boosters. Organization of the unit is under way.

The Mustang Roundup has been scheduled for Sept. 2, starting at 8 p. m. The Westfall High School gridiron will be the activity scene.

40 Candidates Report for LE Football Practice

By STEVE JONES

Logan Elm High School, under new head coach Jim Butz, has about 40 candidates out for the fall grid sport.

Butz feels a few more grid hopefuls may report after school opens.

Gone from the Logan Elm forward wall are the likes of Mike Temple, Gary Courtright, and end Rick Rawlins.

Rawlins is bound for Otterbein come Sept. 1. He has earned a football scholarship at the Westerville based college and will work for a spot on the varsity team.

* * *

IN ADDITION to the loss from the backfield of Steve Burger and Roy Strawser through graduation, Ken Palmer, last year's starting quarterback, has not reported for practice, Butz pointed out.

Returning lettermen include Alan Gabriel, Larry Justice, Dick Zahard, Don Benner, Gary Black, Dale Jenne, Tim Huffman, Bobby Collins, Larry Stant, Jim Moorehead and Buddy McAfee.

The new coach brings a wing T multiple offense to Logan Elm.

"The Wing T is complicated," Butz admits. "But you can do more with it.

"The boys are learning the offense quickly," he continued. "In the first practice we looked pretty bad, but today they seem to be doing real well.

"In fact, at this point they may be a little ahead of themselves."

* * *

A LACK of depth and a lack of returning lettermen may well be two of the biggest problems Butz will have to overcome. Fortunately, the Braves have excaped injury this far.

He noted that some of the younger boys, freshman and sophomores, will have to produce if the Braves are to be contenders for the Scioto Valley Conference title.

Butz is in the unenviable position of knowing absolutely nothing about the opposition his team will face.

His previous coaching experience has been in the Columbus area.

The Braves open against Fredericktown, a team that is expected to be "loaded with talent," according to reports. The first Scioto Valley Conference tilt comes Oct. 7 when Logan Elm meets cross county rival Westfall.

Piketon, with All-Ohio halfback Earl Willson back, is expected to be the power of the SVC this year, Butz's assistant coach, Keith Merrin, feels.

* * *

MERRIN noted, however, that Unioto, under Jim Vandergriff could not be counted out of the title race. Unioto is the defending grid champ.

Here is the Logan Elm schedule:

Sept. 9 at Fredericktown
Sept. 16 Fairfield School for Boys
Sept. 23 Teays Valley
Sept. 30 Dublin
Oct. 7 Westfall
Oct. 15 at New Lexington St. Aloysius
Oct. 21 at Piketon
Oct. 28 Unioto
Nov. 4 at Paint Valley

Colts Recall 27-0 Loss To Browns

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The last time the Cleveland Browns and Baltimore Colts got together was a cold, windy day at Municipal Stadium here for the National Football League Championship in 1964.

The Browns won, 27-0, and the Colts still remember.

"We've had some other tough ones, but I'm sure that game hasn't been forgotten," said Baltimore Coach Don Shula in a telephone interview Monday from Western Maryland College.

The Browns and Colts have a rematch Friday night at the stadium, the second half of the annual pro football doubleheader exhibition. The Minnesota Vikings and Washington Redskins meet in the opener and a crowd of 79,000 is expected.

Shula commented on the absence of retired fullback Jim Brown:

"I don't think there ever was a back like Jim and probably never will be," he said. "Sure, he'll be missed, but the other two guys, Ernie Green and Leroy Kelly, can keep a defense honest. They're good runners, blockers and receivers."

Jets Hurler Extends His Shutout List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbus southpaw Wilbur Wood and Rochester right-hander Frank Bertaina are two of the main reasons why the Jets and the Red Wings stand as high as they do in the International League standings.

Both were in top form Monday night in leading their respective teams to victory as Columbus maintaned its 2½ game lead over the runnerup Red Wings.

Wood extended his shutout streak to 25 innings before a third - inning unearned run spoiled it, then coasted the rest of the way as the Jets came through with a 6-2 win over Buffalo. Wood's victory was his 14th against seven defeats.

At Rochester, meanwhile, Bertaina picked up his ninth win in 11 decisions, this one coming against Jacksonville in a 6-2 game that was to have been first of a twin bill. The second game was rained out.

In the only other action, Toledo moved a step closer to fifth place by nosing out Toronto, 4-3. The scheduled game at Syracuse between the Chiefs and the Richmond Braves was washed out.

Bertaina struck out 10 men and walked only one in the seven-inning affair at Rochester.

Sudden Sam Slated To Challenge Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sam McDowell opens a three-game series against the league-leading Baltimore Orioles tonight, hopefully to give the Cleveland Indians some breathing space in the American League standings.

The Indians are tied for third with Minnesota and both are one game ahead of Chicago. Detroit is in second place, 12½ games off the pace.

Only Half of a Purge Descends on Falcon '11'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arrivals may outnumber departures at the Atlanta Falcons' camp this week now that Norb Hecker has settled for half a purge.

Hecker, coach of the National Football League's fledgling franchise, had promised a shake-up last Saturday night after the Falcons were drubbed 42-3 for their fourth straight exhibition setback. "Twelve or 15 of them will be gone Monday," he said after an Atlanta crowd of 48,548 booed the home club.

Monday night, Hecker cut seven players, including Bobby Franklin, a veteran defensive back acquired from the Browns, and end Phil Sheridan, the Falcons' No. 6 draft choice from Notre Dame.

But Hecker's anger had subsided after viewing films of the one-sided loss to Cleveland and his disposition may be further improved when he studies waiver lists of the other NFL clubs in the next few days.

Today was the first of three cutdown dates for the 14 established clubs, who had to trim their rosters to 49 players apiece. They must get down to 43 by next Tuesday and then freeze at 40 by Sept. 6.

Atlanta, however, is exempt from the cutdown rule until Sept. 6, then may retain 46 players going into its season opener. Hecker, therefore, can be expected to make several additions to his squad, drawing from the other clubs' discards.

Other Atlanta cuts were defensive backs Lowell Caylor, Bob Sherman and Sam Montgomery; fullback Bill McWatters and defensive end Billy James. Sheridan, the Notre Dame captain in 1965, was the first high draft pick turned loose by the new club.

Washington and Pittsburgh got down to the 49-man limit Monday night, the Redskins making 11 squads cuts and the Steelers five.

Philadelphia dropped two players and Green Bay made the limit by placing rookie center Steve Buratto on waivers.

Washington placed three injured veterans defensive back Jim Steffen and defensive tackles Fred Williams and Dick Eers — on the injured reserve list. Fullback Tom Barrington, No. 3 draft choice from Ohio State, and Kurt Altenberg, rookie end from UCLA, were among those cut.

The Steelers dropped four rookies and put third-year linebacker Gene Breen on the injured list. The Eagles asked waivers on center Dick Recher and defensive tackle Erwin Will, their No. 7 draft pick.

The American Football League also faced its first cutdown date today, with the nine clubs permitted to keep 42 players each. They must reach the 40-man regular-season limit by next Tuesday, three days before the season opener at Miami.

Reds Lose 9th of Last 11 Games

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "All isn't lost. We have to dig a little harder and get ourselves out," said Cincinnati Reds Manager Dave Bristol.

But the San Francisco Giants buried the Reds a bit deeper in the National League standings Monday, beating them 5-2 behind the clutch relief pitching of Lindy McDaniel.

The loss was the fourth straight for Cincinnati and ninth in the last 11 games. It dropped them four games under the .500 mark.

But Bristol is optimistic the Reds will finish above .500 and in the first division. He made his remarks in telling about a pre-game closed-door meeting he held with the players.

He termed the meeting neither "ordinary or extraordinary."

"I just wanted them to know," he told reporters, "that someone was thinking about them."

"Nothing is gained sitting around feeling sorry for ourselves. All isn't lost."

McDaniel took over after starter Joe Gibbon injured his right foot legging out a single in the fifth inning.

Clay Claims He's Black Muslim Cleric

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay will turn challenger once again in his battle for a draft exemption, this time claiming he is a minister of the Black Muslim faith.

Clay's attorney, Hayden Covington, said he would file an appeal with Clay's local draft board for a ministerial exemption.

"I don't know why this wasn't done in the first place,' Covington said Monday. "Its been hidden under a bushel basket and it's my duty to bring it to light."

Clay, in an unusually somber mood, preferred to let his attorney do his talking.

"I don't think it's respectful to the draft board or the American government to discuss this case out of court," the champion said.

Clay and Covington will appear at a hearing today before retired Circuit Judge Lawrence Grawman on Clay's appeal for draft deferment as a conscientious objector.

"This does not mean he will change his appeal," Covington said. "It merely means that this man is both a conscientious objector and a minister."

CHS Gridiron Candidates Plagued by Aches, Pains

Circleville's football team is plagued with a number of minor aches and pains, according to head football coach Paul Starr.

He noted that at least 10 boys are not up to par, suffering from ailments ranging all the way from a broken toe to sore back, sprains, blisters and a mild case of heat prostration.

The Tiger practice sessions are being held at the new high school on Nicholas Drive.

Tiger coaches this year include Starr, and associates, Dick Fisher, backfield, Jim Lint, ends and tackles. Kent Carpenter, guards and centers; William Grey, freshmen; Brent Bell, junior high.

Grey and Bell are assisting with the varsity until freshmen and junior high practice sessions get under way when school opens.

The Wilmington High School football team, under veteran head coach Dean Waddell, has 70 candidates on hand.

At Washington High School, coach Maurice Pfiefer is teaching his new variation of the I formation to about 51 candidates, including freshmen.

The Miami Trace Panthers are practicing under the watchful eye of coach John Beckley, new head coach.

With about 60 candidates, Beckley is counting on his returning veterans, and reports the first day of practice was "better than expected."

Marksmen from Midlands Collect Trapshoot Titles

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Midlands marksmen collected the most titles from Monday's Introductory Shoot and Champion of Champions events at the Grand American Trapshoot, but the familiar 6-foot-6, 230-pound figure from Nevada stood tall once again.

Dan Orlich, night manager at a Reno famed casino, relinquished his Champion of Champions crown after a three-year reign as best among state champions in their own special competition but won the Introductory singles title.

The former Green Bay Packers football player, now 42 and winning laurels here since 10 years ago, was the only shooter in a record Introductory field of 1,032 to break all 200 targets from 16 yards.

The battle for Runnerup and Class AA honors in that event was carried over to today after 16 tied with 199 and three of the 16 survived by breaking 100 straight in a first shootoff.

The three included another prominent name in past Grand Americans, Bueford Bailey of Big Springs, Neb., who also grabbed a share of the Champion of Champions title. He and Don Mackerman, Newton, Iowa, tied for that one with 100 of 100. There was no shootoff.

Orlich missed just one clay in that event, also a 16-yard line competition. But one miss is as big as a mile here.

Bill Davis of Harrison, Ohio, whose hometown co-entrant Ray Siegert, gained Class C laurels in the Introductory with a 198 tally, and Ray Dome of Manhattan, Ill., were in the tie with Bailey behind Orlich in the Introductory.

Other winners included Iowans Robert B. Boyd, Le Mars, Class B, 199, and Mary Meadows, Grimes, veteran ladies, 93 of 100; Steve Carmichael, Kansas City, Mo., who won the juniors with 198 and teamed with his dad, S. H. Carmichael, for the parent-child honors with 395 of 400; Doris and John Voss, Omaha, Neb., husband-wife, 383; James A. and E. A. Ross, Uniontown, Pa., brother-brother, 393; Judith C. Allison, Elgin, Ill., 196; Ralph Cornett, Sykesville, Md., Class A, 199, and Mike Schwanz, Fort Wayne, Ind., 194.

Today's program featured more 16-yard firing at 200 targets for class championships.

WHS Boosters Go All Out For 'Roundup'

Members of the Westfall High School Booster Club are going all out to assure a successful "Mustang Roundup."

Approximately 20 persons showed up Monday night to launch drills for the coming program. One of the highlights will be a touch football game, involving mostly adults.

Two teams will compete — the Colts and the Ponies. Last night's initial practice produced two slight casualties. Hi Steinhauser suffered a pulled muscle and John Reynolds was the victim of a torn shirt.

A current point of interest concerning the upcoming grid game is whether Lloyd Minor has displayed enough talent to be named quarterback. There is further speculation as to which team will gain his services.

* * *

ANOTHER feature will be the "Thundering Herd" band, composed of women boosters. Organization of the unit is under way.

The Mustang Roundup has been scheduled for Sept. 2, starting at 8 p. m. The Westfall High School gridiron will be the activity scene.

40 Candidates Report for LE Football Practice

By STEVE JONES

Logan Elm High School, under new head coach Jim Butz, has about 40 candidates out for the fall grid sport.

Butz feels a few more grid hopefuls may report after school opens.

Gone from the Logan Elm forward wall are the likes of Mike Temple, Gary Courtright, and end Rick Rawlins.

Rawlins is bound for Otterbein come Sept. 1. He has earned a football scholarship at the Westerville based college and will work for a spot on the varsity team.

* * *

IN ADDITION to the loss from the backfield of Steve Burger and Roy Strawser through graduation, Ken Palmer, last year's starting quarterback, has not reported for practice, Butz pointed out.

Returning lettermen include Alan Gabriel, Larry Justice, Dick Zahard, Don Benner, Gary Black, Dale Jenne, Tim Huffman, Bobby Collins, Larry Stant, Jim Moorehead and Buddy McAfee.

The new coach brings a wing T multiple offense to Logan Elm.

"The Wing T is complicated," Butz admits. "But you can do more with it.

"The boys are learning the offense quickly," he continued. "In the first practice we looked pretty bad, but today they seem to be doing real well.

"In fact, at this point they may be a little ahead of themselves."

* * *

A LACK of depth and a lack of returning lettermen may well be two of the biggest problems Butz will have to overcome. Fortunately, the Braves have excaped injury this far.

He noted that some of the younger boys, freshman and sophomores, will have to produce if the Braves are to be contenders for the Scioto Valley Conference title.

Butz is in the unenviable position of knowing absolutely nothing about the opposition his team will face.

His previous coaching experience has been in the Columbus area.

The Braves open against Fredericktown, a team that is expected to be "loaded with talent," according to reports. The first Scioto Valley Conference tilt comes Oct. 7 when Logan Elm meets cross county rival Westfall.

Piketon, with All-Ohio halfback Earl Willson back, is expected to be the power of the SVC this year, Butz's assistant coach, Keith Merrin, feels.

* * *

MERRIN noted, however, that Unioto, under Jim Vandergriff could not be counted out of the title race. Unioto is the defending grid champ.

Here is the Logan Elm schedule:

Sept. 9 at Fredericktown
Sept. 16 Fairfield School for Boys
Sept. 23 Teays Valley
Sept. 30 Dublin
Oct. 7 Westfall
Oct. 15 at New Lexington St. Aloysius
Oct. 21 at Piketon
Oct. 28 Unioto
Nov. 4 at Paint Valley

Colts Recall 27-0 Loss To Browns

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The last time the Cleveland Browns and Baltimore Colts got together was a cold, windy day at Municipal Stadium here for the National Football League Championship in 1964.

The Browns won, 27-0, and the Colts still remember.

"We've had some other tough ones, but I'm sure that game hasn't been forgotten," said Baltimore Coach Don Shula in a telephone interview Monday from Western Maryland College.

The Browns and Colts have a rematch Friday night at the stadium, the second half of the annual pro football doubleheader exhibition. The Minnesota Vikings and Washington Redskins meet in the opener and a crowd of 79,000 is expected.

Shula commented on the absence of retired fullback Jim Brown:

"I don't think there ever was a back like Jim and probably never will be," he said. "Sure, he'll be missed, but the other two guys, Ernie Green and Leroy Kelly, can keep a defense honest. They're good runners, blockers and receivers."

Jets Hurler Extends His Shutout List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbus southpaw Wilbur Wood and Rochester right-hander Frank Bertaina are two of the main reasons why the Jets and the Red Wings stand as high as they do in the International League standings.

Both were in top form Monday night in leading their respective teams to victory as Columbus maintaned its 2½ game lead over the runnerup Red Wings.

Wood extended his shutout streak to 25 innings before a third - inning unearned run spoiled it, then coasted the rest of the way as the Jets came through with a 6-2 win over Buffalo. Wood's victory was his 14th against seven defeats.

At Rochester, meanwhile, Bertaina picked up his ninth win in 11 decisions, this one coming against Jacksonville in a 6-2 game that was to have been first of a twin bill. The second game was rained out.

In the only other action, Toledo moved a step closer to fifth place by nosing out Toronto, 4-3. The scheduled game at Syracuse between the Chiefs and the Richmond Braves was washed out.

Bertaina struck out 10 men and walked only one in the seven-inning affair at Rochester.

Kansas City '11' Still in Twilight Zone

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) —The Kansas City Chiefs with possibly the fewest holes to fill of any team in the American Football League, still are flopping around in the twilight zone.

At least that's the way Coach Hank Stram puts it.

"Our entire situation could rest on what develops at halfback," Stram said as he estimated the Chiefs' title chances in the Western Division. "Last year we were committed to the big back personality, but now we're in the twilight zone."

The Chiefs problem stems from the death of last years' starting fullback, Mack (The Truck) Hill. Hill who died while undergoing knee surgery, combined with Curt McClinton to give the Chiefs as good a one-two rushing punch as there was in the league.

But with Hill's death, Stram not only must find a replacement but fit the rest of his offense to either complement another big back combine or a backfield in which McClinton will be running with a speedboy.

There have been no end of prospects looked at by Stram at the Chiefs' training camp. Here's a list of the leading candidates to be McClinton's running mate:

—Mike Garrett, Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, in the small back class at 5-foot-9 and 195 pounds.

—Bert Coan, former Kansas star now in his fifth season, a big back threat at 6-4, 220.

—Elijah Gipson, a rookie out of Bethune Cookman, a big back hope at 6-2, 230.

—Sandy Stephens, former Minnesota star back from the Canadian League, a big back type at 6-1, 225.

Jerrell Wilson, a four-year vet, in the big back class at 6-4, 222.

There also are two others, both rookies: Wendell Tucker of South Carolina, 5-11, 187, and Gene Thomas of Florida A&M, 6-1, 210.

The Chiefs other two problem spots apparently have been taken care of. Either Aaron Brown of Minnesota, the Chief's No. 1 draft choice, or Chuck Hurston originally cut by Buffalo, will hold down one defensive end spot. Ed Lothamer seems to be making a satisfactory recovery from an auto accident and should be able to hold his defensive tackle job.

The remainder of the defense is veteran with Buck Buchanan at tackle and Jerry Mays at end, Sherrill Headrick, E.J. Holub and Bobby Bell the linebackers and Willie Mitchell, Fred Williamson, Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt defending the secondary.

Offensively, Len Dawson will handle most of the quarterbking duties but Pete Beathard is improving and could push his way in should Dawson falter.

The receivers are tight end Fred Arbanas, split end Chris Burford and flanker Otis Taylor. Taylor, a second-year man from Prairie View, is expected to step up after a year's apprenticeship behind Frank Jackson, who the chiefs let go to Miami in the expansion draft.

The offensive line is manned by Jim Atyrer and Dave Hill at the tackles, Ed Budde and Curt Merz at the guards and Jon Gilliam or Wayne Frazier, acquired from Houston, at center.

AGAINST SMOKING—Patches, the 5-year-old Dalmatian in home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jurgensen in St. Paul, Minn., indulges in his sneaky habit of taking a burning cigarette in his mouth to put it out somewhere when smoker isn't looking. He doesn't like smoke.

Kansas City '11' Still in Twilight Zone

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) —The Kansas City Chiefs with possibly the fewest holes to fill of any team in the American Football League, still are flopping around in the twilight zone.

At least that's the way Coach Hank Stram puts it.

"Our entire situation could rest on what develops at halfback," Stram said as he estimated the Chiefs' title chances in the Western Division. "Last year we were committed to the big back personality, but now we're in the twilight zone."

The Chiefs problem stems from the death of last years' starting fullback, Mack (The Truck) Hill. Hill who died while undergoing knee surgery, combined with Curt McClinton to give the Chiefs as good a one-two rushing punch as there was in the league.

But with Hill's death, Stram not only must find a replacement but fit the rest of his offense to either complement another big back combine or a backfield in which McClinton will be running with a speedboy.

There have been no end of prospects looked at by Stram at the Chiefs' training camp. Here's a list of the leading candidates to be McClinton's running mate:

—Mike Garrett, Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, in the small back class at 5-foot-9 and 195 pounds.

—Bert Coan, former Kansas star now in his fifth season, a big back threat at 6-4, 220.

—Elijah Gipson, a rookie out of Bethune Cookman, a big back hope at 6-2, 230.

—Sandy Stephens, former Minnesota star back from the Canadian League, a big back type at 6-1, 225.

Jerrell Wilson, a four-year vet, in the big back class at 6-4, 222.

There also are two others, both rookies: Wendell Tucker of South Carolina, 5-11, 187, and Gene Thomas of Florida A&M, 6-1, 210.

The Chiefs other two problem spots apparently have been taken care of. Either Aaron Brown of Minnesota, the Chief's No. 1 draft choice, or Chuck Hurston originally cut by Buffalo, will hold down one defensive end spot. Ed Lothamer seems to be making a satisfactory recovery from an auto accident and should be able to hold his defensive tackle job.

The remainder of the defense is veteran with Buck Buchanan at tackle and Jerry Mays at end, Sherrill Headrick, E.J. Holub and Bobby Bell the linebackers and Willie Mitchell, Fred Williamson, Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt defending the secondary.

Offensively, Len Dawson will handle most of the quarterbking duties but Pete Beathard is improving and could push his way in should Dawson falter.

The receivers are tight end Fred Arbanas, split end Chris Burford and flanker Otis Taylor. Taylor, a second-year man from Prairie View, is expected to step up after a year's apprenticeship behind Frank Jackson, who the chiefs let go to Miami in the expansion draft.

The offensive line is manned by Jim Atyrer and Dave Hill at the tackles, Ed Budde and Curt Merz at the guards and Jon Gilliam or Wayne Frazier, acquired from Houston, at center.

AGAINST SMOKING—Patches, the 5-year-old Dalmatian in home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jurgensen in St. Paul, Minn., indulges in his sneaky habit of taking a burning cigarette in his mouth to put it out somewhere when smoker isn't looking. He doesn't like smoke.

Buc Catcher's Hitting Spree Trips Phillies

But Gonder Seeks To Build Image As Hot Backstop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jesse Gonder finally is catching up with Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson again, but he'd rather catch up with Yogi Berra.

Gonder, who was a high school chum of Robinson and Pinson, continued hitting like the two sluggers Monday night, rapping three hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged Philadelphi a 6-5 and maintained their one-percentage-point lead in the National League pennant race.

Gonder, a reserve catcher, has started the last three games for the Pirates and has collected eight hits in 13 at bats, raising his average 54 points to .245.

But as elated as Gonder is about his hitting, he prefers building his image as a catcher, an image he contends has been marred unjustifiably.

"I'm not a bad catcher," he said. "I hate to say this, but I have to blame the New York press. When I was with the Mets, the press was building the Mets' image. Any time a player did something wrong, they'd play it up big.

"Like one day the headline read, 'Gonder drops pop fly, Mets lose.' I don't think I got a fair shake."

The Pirates are willing boosters for Gonder's defense.

"He hasn't caught a bad game for us this year," pitcher Al McBean said.

Added Manager Harry Walker: "Bob Veale would rather pitch to him than anyone else."

The 30-year-old Gonder has traveled extensively since attending McClymonds High School in Oakland, Calif., with Robinson and Pinson.

He played with 11 minor league teams and four major league teams — both New Yorks, Cincinnati and Milwaukee — before joining the Pirates this season.

In other National League games, second-place San Francisco defeated Cincinnati 5-2, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 4-3 in 12 innings, St. Louis blanked Houston 3-0 and Chicago downed New York 8-4. There were no games scheduled in the American League.

The Pirates added 14 other hits to Gonder's three. One was Bill Mazeroski's two-run triple, which powered a four-run rally in the fifth inning. Mazeroski put the Pirates ahead of Philadelphia 4-3 with the triple then scored as Bob Bailey singled.

Hal Lanier scored on Len Gabrielson's fifth - inning single, putting San Francisco ahead 3-2, then added a two-run single in the eighth. Reliever Lindy McDaniel preserved the victory by blanking Cincinnati on four hits in the last four innings.

Lou Johnson's two-out, run-scoring single in the 12th inning kept Los Angeles three games out of first. Ron Fairly's run-scoring single put the Dodgers ahead 3-2 in the eighth, but Atlanta tied it in the ninth on Mack Jones' sacrifice fly. Hank Aaron hit his 34th homer for the Braves.

Steve Carlton scattered seven hits for his first major league shutout. Curt Flood supplied enough batting support, singling home runs in the first and fifth innings. Houston got only one runner to third.

Randy Hundley hit a two-run homer, and Ron Santo slugged two doubles and a single, leading Chicago past New York.

Ken Holtzman scattered eight hits, including Jim Hickman's two-run homer in the fourth.

Buc Catcher's Hitting Spree Trips Phillies

But Gonder Seeks To Build Image As Hot Backstop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jesse Gonder finally is catching up with Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson again, but he'd rather catch up with Yogi Berra.

Gonder, who was a high school chum of Robinson and Pinson, continued hitting like the two sluggers Monday night, rapping three hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged Philadelphi a 6-5 and maintained their one-percentage-point lead in the National League pennant race.

Gonder, a reserve catcher, has started the last three games for the Pirates and has collected eight hits in 13 at bats, raising his average 54 points to .245.

But as elated as Gonder is about his hitting, he prefers building his image as a catcher, an image he contends has been marred unjustifiably.

"I'm not a bad catcher," he said. "I hate to say this, but I have to blame the New York press. When I was with the Mets, the press was building the Mets' image. Any time a player did something wrong, they'd play it up big.

"Like one day the headline read, 'Gonder drops pop fly, Mets lose.' I don't think I got a fair shake."

The Pirates are willing boosters for Gonder's defense.

"He hasn't caught a bad game for us this year," pitcher Al McBean said.

Added Manager Harry Walker: "Bob Veale would rather pitch to him than anyone else."

The 30-year-old Gonder has traveled extensively since attending McClymonds High School in Oakland, Calif., with Robinson and Pinson.

He played with 11 minor league teams and four major league teams — both New Yorks, Cincinnati and Milwaukee — before joining the Pirates this season.

In other National League games, second-place San Francisco defeated Cincinnati 5-2, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 4-3 in 12 innings, St. Louis blanked Houston 3-0 and Chicago downed New York 8-4. There were no games scheduled in the American League.

The Pirates added 14 other hits to Gonder's three. One was Bill Mazeroski's two-run triple, which powered a four-run rally in the fifth inning. Mazeroski put the Pirates ahead of Philadelphia 4-3 with the triple then scored as Bob Bailey singled.

Hal Lanier scored on Len Gabrielson's fifth - inning single, putting San Francisco ahead 3-2, then added a two-run single in the eighth. Reliever Lindy McDaniel preserved the victory by blanking Cincinnati on four hits in the last four innings.

Lou Johnson's two-out, run-scoring single in the 12th inning kept Los Angeles three games out of first. Ron Fairly's run-scoring single put the Dodgers ahead 3-2 in the eighth, but Atlanta tied it in the ninth on Mack Jones' sacrifice fly. Hank Aaron hit his 34th homer for the Braves.

Steve Carlton scattered seven hits for his first major league shutout. Curt Flood supplied enough batting support, singling home runs in the first and fifth innings. Houston got only one runner to third.

Randy Hundley hit a two-run homer, and Ron Santo slugged two doubles and a single, leading Chicago past New York.

Ken Holtzman scattered eight hits, including Jim Hickman's two-run homer in the fourth.

Beauty Plans To Goof Off After Losing Her Crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Miss USA-World is a soft-spoken blonde Virginian who enjoys the job she'll lose Saturday night.

The soon - to - be unemployed beauty is Dianna Lynn Baits, 20, who plans to go nome to Falls Church, Va., and "goof off" for about a month after relinquishing her title at the Miss USA-World Pageant at the Ohio State Fair this weekend.

How does it feel to be a has-been at the age of 20?

"I don't think I'd feel bad at all, but it kind of hit me yesterday," Dianna says. "This year has meant an awful lot."

"It's meant traveling through most of the United States and gaining 10 pounds in the process.

"Everywhere I go, they want to feed me. I don't look undernourished."

True enough.

It's meant constant packing and unpacking. "My clothes get worn out so fast I've gone through three sets," she says.

The wear and tear has taken less of a toll on her informal clothes. "Even when I'm home I can't sneak out in slacks or Levis and a sweat shirt," she says. "It would spoil the image."

Dianna's image is a wholesome one. A lifelong Mormon, she neither smokes nor drinks, but she says, "I'd never try to change anybody's life."

After her "goofing-off' period, Dianna has her sights on a possible modeling career. "I love to have my picture taken, and I think it's improtant for people to do something they like."

In the few days left before Saturday, Dianna plans to be busy with personal appearances rehearsals and shopping.

Orbiting Satellite Seen Tracking Animals, Birds

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Biologists may not have the stamina to swim behind whales, romp through African jungles chasing elephants or stomp around frigid Arctic regions after polar bears. But they have found a friend to do it for them — an orbiting satellite.

Stalking animals will become one of many chores for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's versatile Nimbus weather satellites, starting with Nimbus 3 to be launched late next year

Biologists and conservationists want to know more about migratory habits of beats to prevent animal species from becoming extinct and help them learn what secret migratory sense steers animals to destinations hundreds of miles away. They want answers to questions like:

How do migrating sea turtles find Ascension Island? Where do certain animals go which disappear for months at a time? Do animals navigate by the sun, stars or perhaps magnetic waves?

The navigation system used by whales or sea turtles could be used to steer submarines. Whatever guides ducks and geese southward in winter and north in summer may be useful to aircraft. The caribou's system may aid guidance methods for land vehicles.

Biologists working with the Smithsonian Institution plan to attach special electronic packages to large land anmials when Nimbus 3 orbits the globe. The devices are to beam signals that will permit the satellite to plot the animals' location at least twice daily to an accuracy of 1 ½ miles.

Plans call for the packs to be attached first to large animals, such as elephants, whales, turtles, caribou and polar bears. Each pack weighs about 25 pounds, but researchers for NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center said they may eventually be reduced to about two pounds so biologists can get information on migratory habits of smaller animals as well.

The devices were developed primarily to send weather information — temperature, pressure and humdity readings — from remote ground stations to orbiting Nimbus. As the satellite speeds around the Earth, it relays the readings from the packs to weathermen to help them make worldwide forecasts.

Mabel M. David, 75, of 178 Fairview Ave., received treatment after she was stung by a bee.

Dale Curry, 4, son of Mr. and Mr. William Curry, 427 Edward Road, received treatment after he struck his head on a television set at home

Tony Strong, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Strong, 404 N. Scioto St., was injured while diving into the Circleville Swimming Pool.

Richard Sims, 15, of 120 W. High St., was treated after he struck the left side of his head on an iron bar at football practice.

Young Asks U.S. Probe Of Rioting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, suggested Monday that a federal grand jury investigate the causes of recent rioting in Cleveland's Hough area.

Young said he disagreed with a Cuyahoga County Grand Jury report which said the outbreak of violence was organized, precipitated and exploited by a small group of trained and disciplined professionals, some of whom were Communists.

Young said any conspiracy involved "was a conspiracy of pent-up frustration and neglect coming to the surface in the hot, fetid, dank, stifling air of the neglected, filthy, ugly, overcrowded slum areas of Cleveland in the direct nighborhood, an area where my wife, children and I lived about 45 years ago."

Thunderchiefs tangled with four MIG17s Monday in a four-minute aerial battle 20 miles north of Hanoi.

The MIGs attacked the Thunderchiefs while they were bombing a road 10 miles north of the capital. Both sides exchanged cannon fire, a U. S. spokesman said, and then disengaged without damage to either side.

The MIG encounter came while American pilots flew 80 missions over the Communist North, striking at 12 storage depots and three surface-to-air missile sites, among other targets.

Pilots reported they severely damaged at least seven of the oil depots and set off numerous secondary explosions. Among other results, pilots claimed they damaged or destroyed 27 barges, 9 bridges, 16 storage buildings and 5 antiaircraft sites. The Air Force said Thunderchiefs destroyed or damaged 20 guns in one of the antiaircraft sites 95 miles northwest of Hanoi.

For a third straight day, U.S. B52 bombers staged two raids today on South Viet Nam. One formation of the eight-engine bombers struck at a Viet Cong stronghold 65 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border. Another wave hit a Viet Cong troop concentration 45 miles southeast of Saigon, where a regiment of Communist troops had been sighted recently.

2 Ohio Men Die in Crash Of Airplane

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Two northeast Ohio men perished in a Perry County plane crash Monday that occurred under similar circumstances and within about 30 miles of one that killed five in adjacent Licking County less than a week earlier.

Frank Prince Jr., 38, of North Canton, and Hobert Maxwell Johnson, 57, of Dover were the victims when a Piper Commanche evidently exploded in a thunderstorm late Monday.

Roger Storts, eating dinner at his rural home about a mile from the accident scene three miles southeast of here, said he heard what sounded like an explosion and ran outside.

He looked up in time to see debris falling with the rain during a heavy storm.

The main wreckage of the small craft came down in a meadow on the Si Keiner farm, but Sheriff Tom Wilson and highway patrol investigators said debris was strewn for a mile.

One victim's body was in the fuselage. The other was nearby.

Prince was believed to have been the pilot.

Auto Union Still Hopeful of Reopened Wage Talks

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union gives every indication it is not taking as final the Big Three automakers' rejection of contract reopening to give wage boosts to skilled workers.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are apprehensive as they shift into high gear on 1967 models, despite labor contracts which run until September of next year.

Unrest within any major segment of their 700,000-man labor force holds the threat of work stoppages or slowdowns. None wants this in a boom market such as has existed last year and this.

GM, Ford and Chrysler separately turned down Monday a UAW demand for immediate contract reopening to give skilled workers an immediate wage increase of at least 50 cents an hour.

The Big Three said reopening wasn't justified, pointed to upcoming automatic raise next month under current contracts and said, at least in effect, the union should abide by the three-year pacts signed in 1964.

The UAW contends its tradesmen working in auto plants are underpaid when compared with those of similar skills working elsewhere, particularly in the building trades. There have been demonstrations to emphasize this theme, and at least one factory shutdown.

Douglas Fraser, codirector of the union's skilled trades department, said the question of reopening now would be advanced to the top of the agenda for a meeting Sept 7 of the UAW's international executive board.

"It will be reviewed and from there, there should be a clear indication where we will go next," Fraser said.

Asked if he anticipated stoppages or other incidents by skilled tradesmen because of the rejection, he replied: "No, but I've been wrong before."

Auto workers, both the skilled and unskilled, will get automatic increases a week from next Monday under current contract terms. The Big Three estimate these will total $186 million for the UAW-represented alone. Corresponding boosts also are passed along to salaried personnel.

On top of these, a higher cost-of-living index announced in Washington Monday will add another two cents hourly for factory workers and $10 quarterly for the salaried.

Automatic increases effective Sept. 5 include 2.3 per cent or seven cents hourly, whichever is greater, and a special two-cent last-year-of-contract bonus. The industry estimated these would raise wages from 11 to 15.5 cents hourly, plus the cost-of-living hike.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates the over-all average for the automotive industry as a whole, including supplier plants, is $3.22 hourly.

Only 8 Negroes Sign For Training Course

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Project Jump," a program to train Negroes to become journeyman building tradesmen, began here Monday with height enrolees.

The project is sponsored by the Greater Cincinnati Vocational Foundation, which was organized after several charges were made that unions here have discriminated against Negroes.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Biologists may not have the stamina to swim behind whales, romp through African jungles chasing elephants or stomp around frigid Arctic regions after polar bears. But they have found a friend to do it for them — an orbiting satellite.

Stalking animals will become one of many chores for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's versatile Nimbus weather satellites, starting with Nimbus 3 to be launched late next year.

Biologists and conservationists want to know more about migratory habits of beats to prevent animal species from becoming extinct and help them learn what secret migratory sense steers animals to destinations hundreds of miles away. They want answers to questions like:

How do migrating sea turtles find Ascension Island? Where do certain animals go which disappear for months at a time? Do animals navigate by the sun, stars or perhaps magnetic waves?

The navigation system used by whales or sea turtles could be used to steer submarines. Whatever guides ducks and geese southward in winter and north in summer may be useful to aircraft. The caribou's system may aid guidance methods for land vehicles.

Biologists working with the Smithsonian Institution plan to attach special electronic packages to large land anmials when Nimbus 3 orbits the globe. The devices are to beam signals that will permit the satellite to plot the animals' location at least twice daily to an accuracy of 1 to miles.

Plans call for the packs to be attached first to large animals, such as elephants, whales, turtles, caribou and polar bears. Each pack weighs about 25 pounds, but researchers for NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center said they may eventually be reduced to about two pounds so biologists can get information on migratory habits of smaller animals as well.

The devices were developed primarily to send weather information — temperature, pressure and humdity readings — from remote ground stations to orbiting Nimbus. As the satellite speeds around the Earth, it relays the readings from the packs to weathermen to help them make worldwide forecasts.

Young Asks U.S. Probe Of Rioting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, suggested Monday that a federal grand jury investigate the causes of recent rioting in Cleveland's Hough area.

Young said he disagreed with a Cuyahoga County Grand Jury report which said the outbreak of violence was organized, precipitated and exploited by a small group of trained and disciplined professionals, some of whom were Communists.

Young said any conspiracy involved "was a conspiracy of pent-up frustration and neglect coming to the surface in the hot, fetid, dank, stifling air of the neglected, filthy, ugly, overcrowded slum areas of Cleveland in the direct nighborhood, an area where my wife, children and I lived about 45 years ago."

Thunderchiefs tangled with four MIG17s Monday in a four-minute aerial battle 20 miles north of Hanoi.

The MIGs attacked the Thunderchiefs while they were bombing a road 10 miles north of the capital. Both sides exchanged cannon fire, a U. S. spokesman said, and then disengaged without damage to either side.

The MIG encounter came while American pilots flew 80 missions over the Communist North, striking at 12 storage depots and three surface-to-air missile sites, among other targets.

Pilots reported they severely damaged at least seven of the oil depots and set off numerous secondary explosions. Among other results, pilots claimed they damaged or destroyed 27 barges, 9 bridges, 16 storage buildings and 5 antiaircraft sites. The Air Force said Thunderchiefs destroyed or damaged 20 guns in one of the antiaircraft sites 95 miles northwest of Hanoi.

For a third straight day, U.S. B52 bombers staged two raids today on South Viet Nam. One formation of the eight-engine bombers struck at a Viet Cong stronghold 65 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border. Another wave hit a Viet Cong troop concentration 45 miles southeast of Saigon, where a regiment of Communist troops had been sighted recently.

2 Ohio Men Die in Crash Of Airplane

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Two northeast Ohio men perished in a Perry County plane crash Monday that occurred under similar circumstances and within about 30 miles of one that killed five in adjacent Licking County less than a week earlier.

Frank Prince Jr., 38, of North Canton, and Hobert Maxwell Johnson, 57, of Dover were the victims when a Piper Commanche evidently exploded in a thunderstorm late Monday.

Roger Storts, eating dinner at his rural home about a mile from the accident scene three miles southeast of here, said he heard what sounded like an explosion and ran outside.

He looked up in time to see debris falling with the rain during a heavy storm.

The main wreckage of the small craft came down in a meadow on the Si Keiner farm, but Sheriff Tom Wilson and highway patrol investigators said debris was strewn for a mile.

One victim's body was in the fuselage. The other was nearby.

Prince was believed to have been the pilot.

Auto Union Still Hopeful of Reopened Wage Talks

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union gives every indication it is not taking as final the Big Three automakers' rejection of contract reopening to give wage boosts to skilled workers.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are apprehensive as they shift into high gear on 1967 models, despite labor contracts which run until September of next year.

Unrest within any major segment of their 700,000-man labor force holds the threat of work stoppages or slowdowns. None wants this in a boom market such as has existed last year and this.

GM, Ford and Chrysler separately turned down Monday a UAW demand for immediate contract reopening to give skilled workers an immediate wage increase of at least 50 cents an hour.

The Big Three said reopening wasn't justified, pointed to upcoming automatic raise next month under current contracts and said, at least in effect, the union should abide by the three-year pacts signed in 1964.

The UAW contends its tradesmen working in auto plants are underpaid when compared with those of similar skills working elsewhere, particularly in the building trades. There have been demonstrations to emphasize this theme, and at least one factory shutdown.

Douglas Fraser, codirector of the union's skilled trades department, said the question of reopening now would be advanced to the top of the agenda for a meeting Sept 7 of the UAW's international executive board.

"It will be reviewed and from there, there should be a clear indication where we will go next," Fraser said.

Asked if he anticipated stoppages or other incidents by skilled tradesmen because of the rejection, he replied: "No, but I've been wrong before."

Auto workers, both the skilled and unskilled, will get automatic increases a week from next Monday under current contract terms. The Big Three estimate these will total $186 million for the UAW-represented alone. Corresponding boosts also are passed along to salaried personnel.

On top of these, a higher cost-of-living index announced in Washington Monday will add another two cents hourly to factory workers and $10 quarterly for the salaried.

Automatic increases effective Sept. 5 include 2.3 per cent or seven cents hourly, whichever is greater, and a special two-cent last-year-of-contract bonus. The industry estimated these would raise wages from 11 to 15.5 cents hourly, plus the cost-of-living hike.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates the over-all average for the automotive industry as a whole, including supplier plants, is $3.22 hourly.

Only 8 Negroes Sign For Training Course

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Project Jump," a program to train Negroes to become journeyman building tradesmen, began here Monday with height enrolees.

The project is sponsored by the Greater Cincinnati Vocational Foundation, which was organized after several charges were made that unions here have discriminated against Negroes.
